Rush Bride Slayer from Ukiah to Avert Lynching

CONFESSES HE KILLED GIRL WED 2 WEEKS

Herman Knaesche Asserts Wife Murdered Because of An Impulse

FIGURES ON SUICIDE BUT LOSES HIS NERVE

Sheriff Believes the Crime Was Planned Because of Bride's Condition

SANTA ROSA, Cal., July 14.—Rushed here from the county jail at Ukiah for fear that his neighbors would usurp the law following his confession that he killed his bride of two weeks, Herman Knaesche, former overseas soldier, is being held in the local county jail until sentiment against him in Mendocino county subsides.

"I killed her, but I don't know why I did it," said Knaesche, breaking down while being detained by Sheriff Byrnes. "It was an irresistible impulse to kill."

"I loved Frieda. I can't explain the feeling that came over me. I just had to kill her, and then I was sorry when I saw her lying dead on the bed." This was reduced to writing and signed by Knaesche.

Knaesche steadfastly maintains his act was due to a sudden impulse, following his wife's question why he kept a shotgun on the screen porch of their house. He said he told her it was to kill her with, and, after loading the weapon, pursued her into the house, shot her as she struggled in the dining room and, following her to the bed she had staggered to reach, shot her again, blowing off the top of her head.

Only then, according to Knaesche, did he realize what he had done. He said he wanted to kill himself, but lacked the moral courage. He placed the soldering iron by the bed, he said, and went to town, bought a box of candy for his wife and sought to have someone else find the body to divert suspicion from him.

Sheriff Byrnes and detectives who worked on the case, however, discount Knaesche's story of a mania possessing him. They point to several indications that the murder was deliberately planned. The fact that the young bride would have had to undergo an operation before the couple could be assured of conjugal happiness, officers believe, may have had some weight in the tragedy.

Quick Removal From Ukiah Only Prevents Lynching

UKIAH, Cal., July 14.—Only the quick removal of the prisoner by Sheriff Byrnes to Santa Rosa prevented citizens of Ukiah, enraged over the crime, from lynching Herman Knaesche, confessed murderer of his bride of two weeks.

Feeling still runs high today and men meeting invariably discuss the case and condemn Knaesche as a "dirty Hun."

Since the community first was shocked by the tragic end of the popular girl, suspicion has been directed toward Knaesche, a naturalized German who went overseas with the American forces. When he was closeted for questioning by the sheriff, menacing groups always gathered outside the court house.

News of Knaesche's confession did not become known here until after the prisoner had been taken to Sonoma county. Then a huge crowd gathered and there were cries of "lynch the Hun!" Only after it became known that Knaesche had been removed was there a dispersing of the townspeople.

Well, Anyhow Wilson Won't Have to Search Long for Job

SANTA BARBARA, July 14.—Woodrow Wilson's 1920 campaign has been launched. Understanding that the President, if he does not again run for the presidency, will make his home at Montecito, residents of that exclusive town have decided to make him head of the school board.

The President, himself, has not yet been advised of his honors, but the opinion is unanimous that election will be thrust upon him.

It is considered a fact here that the property Wm. G. McAdoo purchased last fall at Montecito, is to be the site of two new homes—one for Woodrow Wilson and the other for McAdoo.

THREE RESOLUTIONS PAVE WAY TO TALK OVER PEACE TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The senate foreign relations committee today paved the way for discussion of the peace treaty by ordering favorable reports on three resolutions bearing on the pact.

Consideration of the treaty itself however was not begun by the committee.

The resolutions ordered reported were the Borah resolution requesting President Wilson to furnish the senate a copy of a protest said to have been made against the Shantung settlement by members of the American peace delegation; the Lodge resolution asking for a copy of the reported secret treaty between Japan and Germany regarding Russia and China and LaFollette's resolution asking information concerning the reported invasion of Costa Rica by Nicaragua and why Costa Rica was not permitted to sign the peace treaty.

Senator Johnson of California filed with the foreign relations committee a resolution he will call up tomorrow asking that "There be transmitted to the committee all drafts and forms of leagues of nations or relating to the league finally adopted and particularly the draft or form of the league of nations prepared and presented by the commissioners of the United States."

DE VALERA CHEERED HALF HOUR IN EAST

CHICAGO, July 14.—Thirty-one minutes of sustained cheering greeted Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," when he arose to address a throng of 25,000 persons in the Cubs' baseball park here yesterday.

His address and those of the other speakers were punctuated with jeers and hisses at the mention of Lloyd George and England.

Hisses greeted President Wilson's name when Mayor William Hale Thompson, Chicago, asked "How was it that President Wilson's beautiful language, that engaged us in the war, was not meant to apply to Ireland?"

De Valera will leave for the Pacific coast tonight.

CHINESE KILLS SELF AFTER WOMAN'S CALLS

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—A mysterious telephone message believed to have been given by a white woman, preceded the suicide of Bing Yuen Lew, a rich Chinese who leaped to death from his hotel window today.

Lew, the police say, often received messages from an apparently cultured white woman.

A few minutes after the mysterious woman telephoned to Lew and he had refused to talk with her, Lew leaped from the fourth floor window of the hotel and died soon after he was taken to the receiving hospital.

BIRCH MUST SHOW OIL FIGURES, PROFITS

Annual Fight For Lower Tax Assessment Before Equalization Board

PRODUCTION, INCOME FOR YEAR DEMANDED

Brea Canyon Operator Asks Reduction of Values From $800,973 to $150,000

IF the Birch Oil Company wants to get the assessment of its oil-producing properties in the Brea Canyon reduced, it will have to produce the facts and figures to show that it is entitled to such asked-for reduction. If the figures show that no reduction is justified, the present assessment will stand.

This is the attitude of the Board of Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, shown today when A. Otis Birch, president of the oil company, reinforced by a Los Angeles firm of attorneys, Mrs. Birch, and two department heads of the company, opened his annual fight before the board for a reduction of the company's assessment as fixed by County Assessor James Sleeper.

The Birch Oil Company owns approximately twenty acres of land in the Brea Canyon, upon which there are eleven producing oil wells. This property, upon an oil production basis which Sleeper uses in fixing his oil assessments, is assessed at $800,973. Of this total assessment, $27,500 is for personal property on the lands, and $773,973 is for the surface and oil-bearing values of the property.

Declaring that the present assessment is "unfair, unjust, excessive, illegal, erroneous, and discriminatory," the Birch company has officially filed a demand that its assessment be reduced to $150,000, and today, with Geo. H. Woodruff and Clyde Shoemaker of Los Angeles as its attorneys, opened its fight before the board.

Discrimination Alleged

The contention of the oil company is that its property was discriminated against, and that its assessment was computed on a different basis than adjoining oil properties. Maps of the district were posted during the hearing, and much of today was given to taking the testimony of Assessor Sleeper as to his figures on adjoining properties of the Union and other companies.

The board wants to secure all the facts in the case and today sprang something that has not been done in former hearings. A subpoena, prepared by District Attorney L. A. West, was today served upon A. Otis Birch, directing that he appear before the board on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, with books and records of the company during the tax year from March 1, 1918, to March 1, 1919. From these books, according to the subpoena, it is proposed to get figures showing the total oil production of the Birch property the past year, total cost of production, and all incomes and revenue, both gross and net, during the period.

With this information before it, the board will be qualified as never before to determine whether or not the assessment of the Birch company is just to all concerned.

FALL OF BASTILLE OBSERVED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Joining the celebration of the 130th anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille with the Victory of the Allies, hundreds of San Francisco French men and women today were joined by peoples of the allied nations in the observance of their Independence Day.

Destroy Lost Mines on Shore of Belgium Many Killed or Maimed in Dangerous Task

Gang Clears Away Missiles, Which Are Exploded By Firing Party

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 14.—There is a new kind of mining going on in Belgium just now which is filled with danger and not a few have lost their lives or been maimed while doing the work.

It is finding and destroying the big

sea mines that have floated up on the coast of Belgium during the war and become imbedded in the sand. Hundreds of these big mines broke from their moorings and were washed ashore.

Since the armistice, detachments of explosive experts have been at work along the coast. The mines are first located and the real dangerous work is begun. First the sand is carefully dug away from the top and sides and the "horns" removed. The removal of these horns is the most dangerous task. When this is done the mines are practically harmless as they lie.

As soon as possible afterwards, a firing party comes along and with a solid shot the mine is exploded.

BULLETINS

NEW YORK, July 14.—Forty-three cars oranges and ten cars of lemons sold. Oranges 25 cents lower. Averages $2.02 to $7.82. High price, President, $8.40. Lemons $1 lower. Averages, $1.40 to $4.91. Weather cloudy; 8 a. m., temperature 69.

PORTLAND, July 14.—When Mrs. Myrtle Harris, aged 35, insisted on working at the telephone exchange as a strike breaker, L. A. L. Harris, her husband, aged 63, became enraged today and killed her. He then wounded himself fatally. Harris, a union workman, had entreated and then commanded his wife not to work as a strike breaker. The murder occurred in the presence of their three children but Harris ordered the children from the room before he shot himself.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The shipping board offer of $10 monthly increase in wages and an eight-hour day while in port was rejected by the striking seamen of the Atlantic coast this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The attempt to override the President's veto on the daylight savings repeal failed in the House today. Opponents of daylight saving lost by 23 votes of the two-thirds necessary to pass the measure over the President's veto. The final vote on the agricultural bill, to which the repeal was a rider, was 247 for and 135 against. After the vote the bill was referred to the Agriculture committee. It will probably be reported to the House late today without the rider.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Republicans of the middle west have agreed on Governor Lowden of Illinois as their candidate for President, Representative Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Illinois State Republican committee, declared today. "We offer him not as a favorite son but as a man big enough for the job," Smith said in a statement which claimed that the country feels certain the Republicans will be successful this year.

GERMANY TO RAISE GREAT SUM BY TAX ON JEWELS, CAPITAL

LONDON, July 14.—Matthias Erzberger, German minister of finance, expects to raise ninety millions of marks by levies on capital, precious stones and metals, according to a special dispatch today from the Daily Chronicle's correspondent at Weimar. Any sum over 20,000 marks will be regarded as "capital" for purposes of taxation.

The first payments are due in January. Persons taxed may remain in debt to the state for thirty years, during which time five per cent will be charged toward paying off the war loan. Government stock will be accepted as payment.

Many Germans believe American capital will enable Germany to capture the Russian markets, to the exclusion of British traders, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Daily Mail.

Writing in the Demokratische Deutschland, Count von Bernstorff declared Germany should join the League of Nations and try to obtain revision of the peace treaty. Bernstorff advised the closest co-operation with the United States, where the socialists are unpopular, he says, and therefore Germany must not be viewed as an apostate for a world revolution.

The Vossische Zeitung fears Germany will become a "dumping ground" for American manufacturers.

ATTACK ON BELA KUN TO BE STARTED TODAY

LONDON, July 14.—General Franchet D'Esperey, French commander in the Near East, will head the Allied police operations against Bela Kun, Hungarian soviet leader, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris. The Allied attack was expected to begin today.

WILSON'S ITINERARY ANNOUNCEMENT SOON

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Announcement of President Wilson's itinerary of the United States in behalf of the league of nations probably will be made early this week.

According to present tentative plans, it is learned the tour will start about July 23. The presidential party probably will not visit New York or New England. Cincinnati probably will be the first stop. It is practically assured, it was learned, that speeches will be made at Indianapolis, Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, Wichita, St. Paul, Denver and at several cities on the Pacific Coast.

Invitations have been received from a large number of cities but none has been definitely accepted.

Having disposed of much of the business which confronted him upon his return from Paris, the President shortly will draft the addresses he will make on his trip.

HUGE BALLOON SAFE AFTER OCEAN JAUNT, JUST MISSES STORM

LONDON, July 14.—The British dirigible R-34 was safely housed in her hangar at Pulham today, having completed her round trip trans-Atlantic voyage early yesterday.

The airship left Mineola, L. I., at 3:56 a. m. Thursday, Greenwich time (11:56 p. m. Wednesday, New York time), and landed at Pulham at 7:02 a. m. Sunday, Greenwich time (3:02 a. m. New York time)—a flight of 74 hours, 56 minutes. Her flying time from East Fortune, Scotland, to Mineola, was 198 hours, 10 minutes—a total of 183 hours, six minutes for the round trip. The westward journey was approximately 3200 miles and the eastward 3000 miles.

The R-34 experienced trouble with one of her engines when half way across on the return voyage, cutting down her speed somewhat. She barely escaped a nasty squall as she landed at Pulham. The storm, which had caused the air ministry to switch her landing place from East Fortune to Pulham, moved southward and burst over the field in an hour and a half after the craft was hauled down and lodged in her hangar.

The R-34 crossed the Irish coast near Clifden at 9:10 p. m. Greenwich time.

NEW TO-FACE MOTHER OF DEAD SWEETHEART

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Harry S. New tomorrow may be called upon for the first time since he brought the body of Frieda Lesser to the police station here saying he had killed his sweetheart, to face Miss Lesser's mother, Mrs. Alice Lesser.

It became known today that Mrs. Lesser may appear in the superior court tomorrow morning when New is brought up for arraignment on the grand jury indictment charging first degree murder.

Mrs. Lesser, since the death of her daughter, had been in a state of collapse until last Friday when her condition became better and her friends said today they believed she would be able to appear in court.

PRESIDENT MAY PAY SANTA BARBARA VISIT

SANTA BARBARA, July 14.—Secretary Tumulty has wired the Santa Barbara Rotary Club that President Wilson "will keep in mind" the club's invitation to visit Santa Barbara during his western tour.

It is believed here the President may stop in Santa Barbara for a brief rest—he has not rested for many a month—after the fashion of former Secretary McAdoo who spent several months here.

It is also expected that the president will want to inspect the property at Montecito which McAdoo is understood to have purchased for his

KEYNOTE OF BATTLE IS GIVEN BY SWANSON

Sovereignty of Nation Amply Guarded Asserts Senator In Speech

CONGRESS HAS POWER TO REFUSE ACCEPTANCE

Monroe Doctrine Protected, Also Given New Force and Dignity

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The keynote of the administration's defense of the league of nations, sounded today in the senate in a speech by Senator Swanson of Virginia, is:

"The requirement for concurrence of the United States in every decision of the league council amply guarantees this nation against surrendering its sovereignty."

Swanson answered in detail every objection of the league covenant. In each case he pointed to the provision that each decision of the council must be by unanimous vote, including that of the United States. After the council has acted, congress still has power to refuse American acceptance of the council's advice, Swanson declared.

"If any contest should arise between the provisions of the covenant and the Monroe doctrine," he asserted, "so far as we are concerned, the covenant is annulled and the Monroe doctrine survives for us as a living foreign policy. We accept the covenant with this clear reservation. The doctrine is not only protected but is given new force and dignity. We obtain a world's recognition of our right to insist upon it."

Long Step Forward

Replying to Elihu Root's objection that the covenant does not provide strong enough machinery for arbitration, Swanson said articles 12 and 13 are a long step forward in international arbitration and will reduce friction between nations by providing for a cooling-off period while not unduly delaying the award of the arbitrators.

As further proof of the safeguarding of American interests, Swanson pointed out the provisions for amending the league covenant and for withdrawal if we are not satisfied.

He urged senators to give the league a trial, at least until the United States, "having become one of the controlling influences in world affairs, can successfully aid in the settlement of world matters so urgently pressing for solution."

He first answered the objection to Article Eight, on disarmament.

"The interest of the United States is amply safeguarded under this article," said Swanson. "No general plan of disarmament can be presented without our consent; no obligations imposed on us without the approval of congress, which is entrusted with raising armies and navies. Such a plan will give us greater security than any policy of nationalization, surrounded by nations jealous and apprehensive of our power and liable at any moment to combine for our overthrow."

Necessary to Peace

Article Ten, the storm center of the covenant, is absolutely necessary to world peace, Swanson declared, because it is a solemn pledge by all league members to abstain from wars of conquest. It imposes upon the United States no obligation which this government is unwilling to accept, he declared, because the council simply advises, and its advice may be rejected by congress.

"When, under this article, we guarantee the territorial integrity of other nations we receive from them a like guarantee for ourselves," said Swanson.

BIG CANNERY ON LE COMPTE DAVIS EAST FIRST ST. OPERATING

JEFFREY WATER WELL'S READY FOR PUMP

Five Hundred Tons of Hemet Apricots Will Be Handled By the Plant

Alleged Slayer of Girl Hears Grand Jury Charge of Murder

With 175 women and about 50 men working today, the big cannery of the California Packing corporation, today is a hive of industry and hustle. The cannery is working on apricots and before it closes down on this fruit about three weeks hence, it is expected 500 tons will have been canned and made ready for distribution through the firm's big selling organization.

Good wages are being paid the women and reports from the plant on the first day's work, Saturday, are to the effect that the piece-work scale is highly satisfactory to the workers.

The fruit is being brought down from Hemet, being hauled by trucks. The fruit is picked late in the afternoon and transported at night, leaving the cots in good condition for the following day's work.

With the starting of operations Saturday, the plant will give employment to a large number of people, probably from this time until the end of the year, distributing hundreds of dollars weekly that will find their way into local commercial channels.

At the end of the apricot period there probably will be ten days of inactivity. Many changes in equipment have been necessary to take care of the fruit, and when the run is through the machinery will have to be changed back to handle chili peppers, which will be ready in a few weeks. Peppers and pimientos will keep the plant busy until cold weather makes the latter unavailable.

ORANGE COUNTY CLUB LOST TO CORONADO

Home Players Show Reversal In Form Over Three Weeks Ago

Making nine of the fifteen points possible, the Coronado Golf Club team walked away with the team representing the Orange County Country club Saturday in the third event for the cup hung up for play between these two teams. The score was 9 to 3, one of the double team rounds breaking even. This gives the Coronado team two of the three games played. A return game will be played at Coronado on July 23.

Lew H. Wallace and John W. Tubbs, of the local club, was the only team that held its opponents down to an even break. They played against L. Hines and C. G. Ross.

The other teams were paired off as follows: The Coronado men being named first, each of the visiting teams winning three points:

L. M. Kenneth and W. E. Harper against R. E. Reid and Geo. B. Shattuck; W. Beckwith and L. Halslip against F. E. Farnsworth and C. D. Holmes; W. Pickford and C. Kelly against Hugh Smith and L. M. Sprout; L. Sharp and Carl Turner against C. G. Twist and S. S. Wolf.

With the exception of two or three men, the visiting team was the same as was here three weeks ago, when the local team won the victory. The home players showed a reversal of form.

Seven of the visitors were army men.

DRANK 'S.S.S.' AND GAVE AN ORDER FOR AUTO

Too Much Blood Tonic Brings Man Into Touch With City Marshal

Leaving an order with Livesey's for a special automobile to have a Studebaker chassis and a Ford engine with Stutz cylinders, Thos. A. Aaron Saturday proceeded to other business houses, where he distributed money promiscuously and finally on his rounds came into contact with City Marshal Jernigan, who picked him up for investigation. He acted like a drunk and it was on the suspicion of drunkenness that the marshal took him into custody.

Later investigation disclosed that he had “downed” a bottle of “S.S.S.” and that it had too much “kick” for him.

Previous to his arrest he visited a number of places about town, and at one place declared that he had been over in France and that he and Eddie Rickenbacker had won the war.

“I am Dare Devil Blackey, and ace of aces, and it was Eddie Rickenbacker and I who won the war,” he declared.

Over-Sunday “cooling” in jail made him a different man this morning and when he appeared before City Recorder Heathman he was fined $5. He had been too liberal Saturday in scattering ten and twenty-five-cent pieces and he did not have enough money left to pay his fine. He will board on the hill for two days and a half.

WAITER EXPIRES SUDDENLY AT BALBOA

Seized With Fatal Illness on Return From Visit to Drug Store

Edward N. Castello, a waiter, died suddenly yesterday at the Balboa hotel, Balboa. The death was under more or less suspicious circumstances and an autopsy was held this morning, the result being disclosure that death was due to natural causes. He was about fifty years of age and leaves a child and divorced wife in San Francisco.

Castello worked at the hotel last summer, and came there a few days ago and applied for work. None was available. He was almost a physical wreck and despondent. W. C. Simmons, proprietor of the hotel, gave him food and shelter. Yesterday afternoon he went over to Newport, where he purchased Cascares. He returned very ill, and Simmons took him to his own room and told him to rest for a while. Later he grew worse and a physician was summoned.

He did not die in convulsions, but thinking that possibly he might have taken some kind of poison, the autopsy was held this morning.

He was a member of the Waiters' Union of Los Angeles and a representative of that organization was sent to Balboa to look into his case. The body is at Smith and Tuthill's, where it is being held pending information from Mrs. Castello at San Francisco as to where the body shall be buried. It is very likely it will be shipped to San Francisco.

ONE FATALLY INJURED TWO SHOT IN STRIKE

ARGO, Ill., July 14.—One person was reported fatally hurt and two others were shot and seriously wounded here today as a result of a new outbreak between strikers and armed guards at the plant of the Corn Products Refining Company.

The trouble today started when 600 strikers clashed with loyal workers and guards. Dozens of shots were fired. Strikers were said to have attempted to rush the entrance to the plant, which has been encircled with barbed wire.

SING LEADER PLANS TO REMOVE GROUCH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Robert E. Clark started today to remove the grouch from California.

Clark plans to make this a singing state, and says song will make it happy. He opened his class for singing leaders at the local Y. M. C. A., with which he is connected. These leaders will conduct open-air “sings” in the congested districts.

Neighborhood “sings” were first introduced by Clark in New York. Twenty-three such “sings” are now going full blast there to crowds of 1500 and over. Clark is the man who introduced marching songs and company singing in the army. It was his work overseas that cheered the idle hours of many a homesick “dough-boy.”

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Kittle and family are domiciled at Laguna Beach for the remainder of July and the entire month of August.

The manufacturer who makes your shoes is working for you. The store that sells you shoes is working for you. So is your grocer and baker and gas company and clothier and every person who makes or sells anything that you buy.

Quite often these people have messages for you. They want to tell you about new goods or changes in styles and prices or give you other information.

It is not practical for them to come and speak to you personally because they have too many customers to serve. So they put their messages in advertisements in your daily newspaper.

It is to your interest to read advertisements.

You'll find that business concerns which tell you frankly what they are doing are most to be depended upon. Stores that advertise are progressive stores that have something really worth while to say to you. Manufacturers who advertise their goods have confidence in them; it does not pay to advertise anything that is not good.

SPECIAL DOINGS AT THE ARMORY TONIGHT

Tonight is the regular drill night of the Seventeenth company, National Guard, at the Birch street armory. But that is not all, for there are to be some special doings at this meeting. It also has leaked out that a large quantity of ice cream, etc., has been ordered for delivery at the Armory this evening, and members of the company who know a good thing when they see it on a warm evening will be there.

ONE LANGUAGE BY 1920 SUGGESTED

A one-language commonwealth by the time the 1920 census takers call around to ask about your health and make some other neighborly inquiries is the somewhat ambitious program of the New York state department of education. Also a literate commonwealth. Governor Smith has approved a bill passed by Republican and Democratic legislators and directing this phase of education. The bill permits localities to appropriate money for factory classes, night schools, home classes and other approved forms of carrying instruction to non-English speaking and illiterate adults.

The state appropriation probably will go for the necessary expense of organizing and supervising such instruction, and for co-ordinating the methods in this interesting and increasingly popular social endeavor. The appropriations by local boards of education will pay the teachers and provide the school materials. But as there is to be co-ordination of official and volunteer agencies, the latter including board gauged employers who have realized the value of a one-language working staff, and civic spirited men and women who have been pushing Americanization work, the cost may be expected to be far less than the value of the result.

It is a big job. New York state in 1910 led all the other states of the union in the number of its illiterate residents. More than 406,000 individuals more than ten years old were unable to read and write, and of this number 362,025 were foreign born. Non-English speaking residents of this state in 1910 were counted at 597,912. In the years 1911, 1912, 1913 and in more than half of 1914, immigration added to this number, although the addition was doubtless offset by those of alien tongues who acquired English. M. E. CENTENARY CELEBRATION IS CLOSED

Visitors at Big Affair at Columbus, Ohio, Number
About 750,000

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—The greatest religious celebration in the history of America and probably of the world ended here when the gates closed yesterday on the Methodist Centenary Celebration, which has been held since June 20th. During the period of the celebration a total of 75,000 visitors have passed through the turnstiles, drawn from all parts of the world. Nearly 50,000 automobile parties from all sections of the United States have visited Columbus during the festival and Dr. S. Earl Taylor, director general of the celebration, said that the attendance exceeded the most optimistic hopes of the promoters of the celebration.

"We at first hoped to have an attendance of a quarter of a million," said Dr. Taylor today, "but our attendance has trebled that figure. Methodism the world over will be given new inspiration for the five year program of reconstruction that now begins, and during which the $105,000,000 recently raised by the Methodist Church in America, will be used for Evangelization."

The greatest attendance of any one day was on July 4th, when 100,000 people heard William G. McAdoo as the principal speaker of the day. On June 15th, 75,000 heard William Jennings Bryan; and on July 5th, 60,000 were in attendance when Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, addressed the Methodists and their friends. Saturday, July 12th, secured another record breaking attendance when Sergeant Alvin G. York of Tennessee, "the greatest hero produced by the war," and Lieutenant C. H. Read of the NC-4, the first man to cross the Atlantic in an airship, were the guests of honor. As the final day of devotion and consecration yesterday, Bishop Adna W. Leonard of San Francisco, was one of the principal speakers.

Exhibits from all parts of the world housed in eight huge exhibit palaces, showing the work of the Methodist Church in 36 countries of the globe.

WHITE SOX IN LEAD ARE GOING STRONG

BY H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 14.—The White Sox are taking full advantage of whatever it is that has happened to the Yankees, but they also are showing signs of a yawning crack in their own power that may come in handy for the New Yorkers within a few days.

While the Indians and Tigers have been mauling the daylights out of the Chicago pennant chasers, the Sox have been man-handling the Athletics and Red Sox in such bruising fashion that the Chicagoans have vaulted a full three games in front and are going fast.

In winning the victories that have pushed them to the fore, however, the Sox have been forced to pile up anywhere from five to ten runs, for the opposition clubs have found it very easy to land on Kid Gleason's pitchers. Yesterday, for instance, the Red Sox accumulated nine runs off the White Sox slabbers, six of them in a single season with the willow.

The Yankee slump—it can be called nothing else—is in advanced stages. They should have beaten the Indians, judging from what the Browns and Senators have done to the Phil men, and were expected to have a fairly easy time with the Tigers. But both clubs smote the Huggins clan fore and aft. Star pitchers apparently have had nothing to recommend them at the paymaster's office, and Huggins has declined to experiment with anything else.

The race in the American League is holding practically all the interest, in spite of the bloody fight now in progress between the Cincinnati Reds and the Giants.

WANTS JACK DEMPSEY TO TAKE ON MEEHAN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—That Jack Dempsey will be prevailed upon to meet Willie Meehan here in a four round bout was the sincere opinion today of Louis Parente, promoter, who has already picked out the scene of the battle.

Dempsey and his manager are expected in this city Sunday.

ALLIED BOARD PLANS BELGIAN WORLD CITY

BRUSSELS, July 14.—The inter-Allied committee on commemoration of victory recommended today the foundation of a city in Belgium to be known as Geopolis (world city). The city would be laid out like a garden. It would be neutralized, according to the present plans, and possibly would be the eventual seat of the League of Nations.

Earthquake Lady Predicts Shake, Today, also Rain

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—An earthquake is scheduled, probably in Salt Lake City, Southern California and in San Francisco, each at a different hour today, according to an anonymous correspondent to the Daily News of this city. The writer signs herself "The Earthquake Lady." Previous predictions by the same writer have been fulfilled with startling regularity.

The earthquake the writer claims will be caused by a rise of the Kilauea volcano, Hawaii, the shock not to last over a second. She further predicts a heavy rain fall in California on July 15 and 16.

TRADING WITH ENEMY LAW VIOLATION FACED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of violating the "trading with the enemy act," Robert Russ, C. O. Swanberg and Henry W. Westphal appeared before the United States District Court today.

The three are charged with having conspired to send money to Germany for relief of heirs to the Russ estate. Oscar Holmquist, Swedish dairyman, is being held as a government witness. Holmquist, it is charged, was to have acted as agent in getting the money to Germany.

Russ is treasurer of the Russ estate. Westphal is president of the Merchants Ice and Cold Storage Company and Swanberg is proprietor of the Portola cafe of this city.

HARRIS, ARTESIA BANK SUSPECT. QUITS JAIL

Alleged Leader of Robbers
Steals Keys and Walks
Quietly Away

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Another hunt for Lewis B. Harris, charged with leading a gang of four men and one woman in the robbery of the Artesia, Calif., bank, is in progress today.

After two months in jail, marked by one unsuccessful attempt at securing his liberty, Harris yesterday stole the jailer's keys and walked quietly down the street.

He left behind him the bulk of the $33,000 loot from the Artesia bank and Frances Kennedy, his girl companion.

Deputy sheriffs have been placed on guard at every exit from the city, but thus far, Harris has eluded them.

Harris left shortly after breakfast yesterday. Leaving the dining room he met a trusty in the corridor.

"Any excitement," he jovially asked.

"No," was the reply.

"There's going to be some pretty soon," returned Harris.

He was right. Apparently he went immediately into the jail office, jimmied the oak key cabinet, stole the four necessary keys to the four big doors between him and liberty, and made his getaway, carefully locking each door behind him.

Harris was arrested in Denver with his girl companion, and was returned here. He is said to be wanted in several eastern cities, notably Baltimore where he is alleged to have broken jail a few years ago.

CANNING OF PEACHES TO START THIS WEEK

PORTERVILLE, July 14.—Canning of the 1919 crop of peaches is expected to start during the week, slightly later than the average, but with a prospect of the heaviest yield of all varieties on record in this county. The total crop, including the fruit which will be marketed to the east in fresh form, is expected to aggregate 15,000 tons, and two-thirds of that will be canned at the various plants in all parts of the county. As abnormally high prices are being paid this season, the net worth of the canning peaches alone to the growers will be in excess of $1,000,000.

PROTECTING GOOD ROADS

Wisconsin, like several other states, does not propose to build a lot of fine roads and then have them all cut up by narrow wagon tires. A highway traffic act has just been enacted which, after July 10, 1920, will bar the sale of the two-inch tired farm wagon.

Buggies drawn by horses and for pleasure uses and holding less than eight people may still use the narrow tires, but three inches or over is the legal width for heavier conveyances.

It is interesting to see the legal measures for keeping roads in good condition keep pace with the improvement of the roads themselves. The narrow-tired heavy vehicle is one of the worst road cutters known. Heavy wagons are hard enough upon roads at best, and now that every highway is liable to the destruction inevitably resulting from the use of motor trucks, every possible precaution must be taken to prevent unnecessary damage.

Orange county, some years ago, passed an ordinance regulating the width of tires. While damage that has been done to highways has come largely from heavy hauling in the beet growing sections, heavy commercial trucking has much to answer for. When our highways were built no one had any idea that motor trucking would develop to the extent that it has developed.

Had it been known that the highways were to be subjected to continuous usage by trucks carrying loads such as were not thought possible six or eight years ago, probably engineers would have recommended heavier bases and heavier surfaces.

Many highways of the state and county have been damaged by traffic that was either not regulated or that did not observe regulations. Neither county nor state has any system for inspection of loads and widths of tires.

Protective regulations and rigid enforcement of regulations are prime factors in the preservation of good roads.

HIS FAITH

Sergeant York, the Tennessee mountaineer whose heroic exploit in France won him the reputation of being "the bravest soldier in the allied armies," is an interesting study. Where does he get the coolness, courage and supreme fighting efficiency that enabled him single-handed to kill two dozen Germans and take more than 100 prisoners in a single combat?

According to the New York Sun, "he attributes all his prowess as a soldier to the grace of God." He admits that he used to be one of the best shots in his neighborhood with the rifle and revolver, but he maintains that in the army God strengthened him spiritually so that he surpassed himself. On the occasion in question, he feels that the Lord was with him in a time of great peril, and he "came out of there with the help of God." He maintains that "the American army and the American flag won the war, because they had God behind them, and when you have God behind you, you can come out on top every time."

Here is a soldier with as sturdy and literal a faith as was ever possessed by any of Cromwell's praying, hymn-singing "Ironsides." Who can doubt that York's faith, like theirs, really helped him win? That it quieted his heart and steadied his nerve and sharpened his eye and made his brain clear and his aim true?

Some philosopher has said that this generation, with all its mechanical progress gets nowhere because it lacks faith. It would certainly get somewhere with York's faith.

A DEATHLESS DAY

Employees of the department of public parks and cemeteries in one of the big cities want the mayor to declare a "deathless day." They would like to have a picnic, and they say they cannot all attend unless the public will abstain from dying on that day. The cemetery employees have never known a day without a death. After "wheatless" and "meatless" and all the other "less" days, they argue, why not a "deathless" day?

The public will agree, cheerfully enough, if only the grim reaper will withhold his hand.

It lies beyond the power of any human being, of course. And yet the idea is richly suggestive. Though no man or family or community can be of a certainly-made immune for a single day, nevertheless the hand of death can be stayed to a greater degree than most mortals realize. Medical men say that within a generation, 10 years have been added to the life of man. This probably means that only about three-fourths as many people out of a given number die in a given time, as would have died in the "good old days."

The gain has been accomplished chiefly by more rational living. It represents partly better hygiene and sanitation. A great deal of the credit, possibly most of it, is due to the increased vogue of outdoor recreation.

A day in the park, such as those city employees desire, or a day on the highway or in the woods or on the golf course or the beach or along the river, will do its part toward making that day and every succeeding one a "deathless day."

Claiming Credit

—Orange News

The moot question "who won the war?" bids fair to furnish discussion for at least the next century with more or less modest contributions to the subject from everybody concerned.

A writer in the Saturday Evening Post recently called attention to a tendency on the part of our late "associates" to withhold credit from this country for the reduction of German power. The complaint is given countenance by a recent statement by Marshal Haig in which he calls attention to the fact that, after all is said, it was the British Empire that won the war.

Marshal Haig is no doubt honest in his conviction, although he probably failed to talk it over with Mr. Hurley, Mr. Hoover, the marines and several regiments of doughboys, all of whom might have contributed ideas on the subject.

Our impression is that there were a number of contributing causes for German defeat and that there is credit enough to go all the way around. That the British armies and fleets were of tremendous value no one disputes. Nevertheless, it was the strength of France that stopped the German flood at the first Marne. It was the Russian onset that divided German effort the following year and gave England time to "get in" in force; it was Italy that held the flank through trying years; and it was America rushing in full power upon the field that broke German morale and finally forced surrender.

That is the record and every nation engaged may be proud of its part. It will become a great soldier to sully his reputation by claiming all credit for the victory. England surely won all the honor that any nation could covet. Haig has a reputation for saying very little. Perhaps it is well.

The Builders

—Riverside Press

A thousand years scarce serve to form a state.

An hour may lay it in the dust. And when

Shall man its shattered glories renovate,
Summon its virtues back, and vanquish time and fate?

So wrote Byron, of Rome. It was true enough of the "Eternal City." When wrecked by the Goths and Vandals—the Germans of the dark ages—it took another thousand years to rebuild Rome and its environs.

But there is to be no such slow, evolutionary process in the reconstruction of the district of Nancy, in the French department of Meurthe-et-Moselle. It is to be rebuilt by a big American firm, on contract. The terms of that contract call for the expenditure of a sum which is to be not less than $250,000,000, and may rise to $500,000,000. It is one of the biggest construction jobs in human history.

It calls for the replacement of churches, cathedrals, town halls and other public buildings, factories, dwellings, roads and bridges. Where towns and villages have been razed or obliterated they will be restored as they were, or better.

This is modern business magic. It is natural that the Old World should come to America to get it done. That particular region was historic long before America was discovered. It is but the first of many ancient abodes of civilization the Americans, whose genius is essentially constructive, will be called on to rebuild and modernize.

Teaching Courtesy

—San Pedro Pilot

A course in courtesy and manners has been added to the curriculum of an eastern high school.

Class discussions dealing with general deportment are held. Essays are written and placards are posted in the halls calling the attention of the pupils to the proper forms of politeness.

No one who has much familiarity with young America can doubt the need of such a course. Our boys and girls as a rule are sadly lacking in the finer arts of courtesy. But young America is not to blame—old America is the guilty party.

We live in a hurried, ambitious age. We are all so much in a rush that we forget George Washington's famous maxim, "Life is always long enough for courtesy."

No child who sees ill-mannered behavior on the part of his parents is going to be well-mannered himself unless he learns it in school. No child who hears bad language or cruel, cutting speech at home is going to be gentle-spoken among his fellows. No child who sees disrespect and thoughtlessness shown to the aged is going to rise to his feet when those older than himself are standing.

It is a good thing for the schools to take up the matter of manners to interest and encourage the pupils in the daily practice of those courtesies which alone make life endurable, but if the home falls short, it will be a difficult matter for the school to supply the lack entirely.

As a social and business asset, good manners are better than gold, yet than much fine gold. But their best effect is on the individual himself, who unconsciously becomes finer as he practices the niceties of social usage.

Our Daily Bread

They are Read as News

Many an interesting bit of news is found in the Classified Ad columns of the Register.

There you may find that your neighbor is offering his house for sale. Or, perhaps, he wants to buy a second hand automobile.

Or perhaps, John Smith advertises that he is going out of town for the summer and wants to rent his house. And, again, you may find that Mrs. So-and-So lost her cameo pin at the beach.

And there's a firm advertising for a stenographer and the girl next door is looking for just that kind of a job.

Then, you read that somebody has lost a pet cat, and you are certain that was the cat you saw crossing French street yesterday as you were going to church.

That address where they want to buy a good second-hand piano, why, that's where your friend lives.

"Found, a watch. Phone 45-X" and you recognize that telephone number right away.

Yes, indeed, there is a lot of news tucked away in the Classified Ads, and that is why nearly everybody reads them.

Because nearly everybody who reads the Register also reads the Classified Ads, they bring a remarkably high percentage of the results wished for them by those who cast their quarters into the Classified Ad columns of the Register.

THE SECRET PACK.

My memory hath a secret pack
Wherein I store the loveliest things;
And in my heart, not on my back,
My dear and guarded treasure swings.
With every passing year it grows,
And as it grows life fairer gleams;
And lesser weigh my daily woes,
And brighter, rarer, shine my dreams.

My memory hath a secret pack;
It steads me, cheers me all the while.
Within it enters nothing black,
But each kind word, each loving smile.
It matters not if darkness fall,
I never let my heart be dumb,
For love knows not until it call
What faithful echoes back will come.

My memory hath a secret pack;
When I am sad I open it
And soon of solace I've no lack,
And over land, and over sea,
My thought flies swifter than a dove,
For are not those who smiled on me
Still keeping bright the lamp of love?
—Samuel Minturn Peck in Boston Transcript.

GROANS AND GRINS

A Lover's Woes

At Cupid's shrine I worshipped; but now I only scoff. I fell in love with the "Hello" girl—Alas! she cut me off. And then I met the chorus girl, as stylish as a queen. I asked her to be mine. She said: "You're not on in this scene."

I thought I booked the cycling girl. (I'd chosen her at random.) Alas! it seemed from what she said, she didn't care for "tandem!"

I might have gained the typist's hand; but didn't try to win it, because I found she wrote—and talked—one hundred words a minute.

The circus girl quite put me off, when we'd fixed up the thing. She jilted me, but wrote to say she's sticking to the ring!

Willing to Share Praise

"The French, ever since Foch's victory, are almost in danger of becoming swell headed," said Immigration Commissioner Caminetti in New York. "And no wonder. The French surely showed great courage and genius in this war and praise and compliments have been showered upon them from all sides."

"Not long ago in a French restaurant I ordered a steak. The waiter took the order and just as he was about to go I cried as an afterthought, 'Well done, waiter.'"

"The young man, blushing with pleasure, drew himself up and saluted smartly."

"But you Americans, monsieur," he said, "you Americans also covered yourselves with glory at Chateau Thierry and Bois de Belleau."

OBSERVATIONS

Stockton Record.—The picture on a tomato can doesn't catch the buyer any more certainly than the lady with luxuriant hair on the tonic bottle gets the fellow whose hairs are numbered. He knows perfectly well he never can look like the lady on the bottle. He knows nearly as well the lady never grew her hair with anything out of a bottle, but just the same, it is the picture that sells the tonic. Call that psychology or durnphoolishness, just as you like.

The Public

Salt Lake Herald.—One motion picture actor complains to the New York supreme court that the publicity attending his divorce proceedings has worked a personal hardship upon him. He says the producers shun him, declaring the matrimonial tangles of a star injure him before the public.

Here is a subtle compliment to the American conscience which alarmists have long declared to be a lost quality. When this particular star figured in the headlines of the papers as a result of his marital difficulties, the more brazen declared it was publicity he could not buy. Some went so far as to say it meant a new and a higher figure in his contract.

If the star himself testifies truthfully, the experience has been entirely different. No doubt the American public enjoys reading of the domestic difficulties of others. It does not, however, honorize the principals. Generally speaking, American pleasure seekers are still wholesome and their entertainment must be of the same order. As for the star, he has merely discovered the difference between publicity and notoriety.

DRY ENFORCEMENT IS DISCUSSED BY SOLONS

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The senate sub-committee considering prohibition today began framing enforcement legislation. Members of the committee said that the brewers' argument that 2.75 per cent beer is not intoxicating would have no weight with them.

Anti-saloon league representatives were to appear before the committee later in the day in a final summing up of arguments. The committee was to go into executive session immediately afterward and revise the enforcement bill for presentation to the senate.

CULPRIT DEAR

(A song without tune.)

Some one has stolen my heart away—
Fetched it from me in light of day.
I am resolved on a Shylock plea;
The culprit must pay back in kind to me.

CHORUS

Heart for heart, is my Shylock plea.
Culprit, dear, do you list to me.
You'll never pay for that crime of thine
'Till you bring another heart with mine.
You're sorry now, aren't you, culprit, dear?
I can see the blush on your forehead clear.
You stole on purpose? Well, I never!
You guessed I'd play Shylock? Now, that's clever!
—Mary E. Kiefer, in Riverside Press.

To Rest and Work

Mr. and Mrs. O. Garber and little son left this morning for Bear Valley for a good summer's rest. Mr. Garber expects to spend some time working on the text book he is to publish for the use of bookkeeping students.

Chat 'N' Chat

The Chat 'N' Seau Club members were guests of Mrs. Luie Butterfield last Saturday evening at Balboa, where she is spending her summer vacation. The members usually live up to the name of their club very well but Saturday evening they dropped the latter part and instead of sewing they had a good time dancing at the pavilion. Members of the club, besides the hostess, are: Mmes. Fred Merker, Harold Nelson, Leonard Harvey, H. A. Gardner; Misses Arlie Cravath, Hattie Powers, Irene Craemer, Alice Huntington, Minnie Gardner, Gertrude Potts and Grace White.

From San Francisco

Miss Genevieve Wilbur of San Francisco arrived Saturday evening to spend a week's vacation with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilbur, on South Sycamore.

Yesterday Mrs. Margaret Robertson, Miss Genevieve Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Wedgewood and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur motored to Venice and Redondo and several of the other beaches.

Colburn-Watson

Of especial interest to University of Southern California fraternity and sorority circles is the marriage of Miss Nellie Maude Colburn of Upland and Homer K. Watson of Los Angeles.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Colburn, with Rev. Charles A. Kent officiating. Little Liana and Barbara Colburn, nieces of the bride, were the flower girls and Lula May and Harold Colburn were the ring-bearers. Miss Nellie Cook was maid of honor and Francis M. Watson, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was performed under a floral wedding bell suspended by ropes of ferns and flowers from the ceiling of the veranda. One hundred guests were assembled on the lawn. The bride was gowned in white satin and lace and her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms. The couple are spending their honeymoon in the high Sierras.

Mrs. Watson is a graduate of the U. S. C. and is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority, while Mr. Watson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Watson of this city, is a U. S. C. man and a member of the Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and also of the Skull and Dagger Honor Society of the university.

Among the out-of-town guests in attendance were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Watson; the Rev. S. S. Sanford Sampson of Corona, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Waters and daughters, the Misses Marie and Helen Waters of Santa Paula; Lieut. and Mrs. Harry Watson, daughter, Dorothy; Mr. and Mrs. George Watson, Mrs. Roy Colburn, and Mrs. Olive Stillwell.

Mr. Watson is a man of exceptional sterling qualities. When he was not much more than a boy he lived near Westminster, where he won the friendship of the entire little village. When he left there to go to Los Angeles, his friends continued their interest in him and his college career, and, as they have previously done in his smaller successes, they will rejoice with him now in his new happiness.

Birthday Celebration

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. H. Wichman was happily celebrated with a family dinner party at her home on West Third street last Friday evening.

Urged for Council Head

The following clipping was taken from Sunday's Los Angeles Examiner: With the presidency of the Women's Legislative Council coming south next year, much interest centers in the report of the three members of the nominating committee appointed from Southern California, who have sent to the North their suggestions for a president, and for other officers of the council.

ident, and for other officers of the council.

Mrs. A. J. Lawton, present treasurer of the council, who was endorsed for the office at the state convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs at Coronado, headed the ticket as president.

Many prominent Los Angeles women were slated for the office, according to earlier gossip in clubdom, but at the final issue the name of Mrs. Lawton of Santa Ana was the only one which came to the front.

Miss Paula Dunnigan, former Los Angeles district chairman of legislation, who has evinced a keen interest in legislative matters, has been suggested by the nominating committee as recording secretary. Mrs. C. H. Spence of Long Beach as treasurer. Mrs. W. L. Deimling of Santa Ana as historian. Mrs. Deimling will be remembered at the Coronado convention as presenting a very interesting program in her capacity as state chairman of Industrial and Social Conditions.

As the president of the women's legislative committee "goes south" next year, the nomination of vice-presidents will be taken care of by the two Northern members of the nominating committee. Following further exchange between Northern and Southern committee members a ratification meeting will be held and a final ticket will be prepared for the club women to be voted upon in October.

Poetess Coming

Mrs. Victor Montgomery is expecting the arrival of her cousin, Miss Nanie Hillary Harrison, from Texas, for an indefinite visit.

Miss Harrison visited with Mrs. Montgomery during her tour of the coast, when the newspaper upon which she is employed sent her out here to the exposition. She is a well known newspaper woman, magazine writer and poetess of Texas. Her duties have called her to many places, but most of her time is spent in Austin and El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tarver, also cousins of the Montgomerys, who have been here for three months, have left for their home in Dallas, Texas, going by way of Yellowstone Park. Mr. Tarver is a cotton man and his visit was terminated here upon the necessity of his being at home when the cotton season opens.

Family Reunion

A very happy family reunion took place Friday noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lamb of 317 South Sycamore street in honor of their son, J. Wesley Lamb, who just arrived from his service overseas with the 306 Ammunition Train of the 81st or Wildcat Division.

This division was the last National Army Division to leave France and was on foreign soil eleven months. It was in active service in the Meuse, Argonne, near Verdun, when the armistice was signed.

Besides the host and hostess, those who gathered around the table were Miss Mamie Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Heacock of Montrose, Colorado, who are making an extended visit at the parental home, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Bower and family of Garden Grove.

At the Country Club

Mrs. J. C. Metzgar and Mrs. Susie Rutherford, hostesses at the Country Club entertainment Saturday, gave the members a very pleasant afternoon with cards.

Prizes for high score were awarded Mrs. Conner, who is visiting with her sister, Mrs. C. V. Davis, and Mrs. Duane Holmes.

Mrs. George Briggs and Mrs. Mark Lacy will be hostesses at the next affair.

Church Wedding

The wedding of Miss Winifred Rotters and Lieutenant Elmer Worthy will take place tomorrow evening, at eight-thirty, at the First Christian church.

AMUSEMENTS

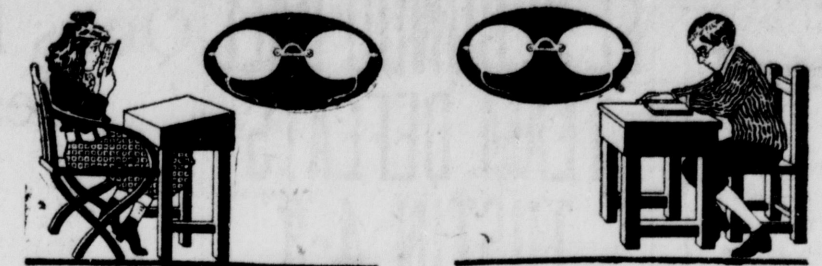

"Men, Women and Money"

Margaret Loomis, one of the best known interpretative dancers on the Pacific coast, who will be remembered for her work in "Hidden Pearls," a Paramount picture starring Sessue Hayakawa, wherein she played the role of the native girl, was engaged for Ethel Clayton's latest Paramount picture, the working title of which is "Men, Women and Money." Miss Loomis does an original dance, arrayed in a bizarre costume. The grace with which she interpreted an Oriental rhapsody was commented upon by all who saw the scene in the making, and it adds luster to a production which is one of the most colorful in which Clayton has ever assisted. George Melford directed, being assisted by Lou Howland, while Paul Perry presided at the camera. "Men, Women and Money" is on at the West End tonight.

Perhaps It Is Their Eyes

Speaking of summer schools for backward children, a teacher said to us: "One of my girls seemed to be perfectly capable in her book studies but she was stupid in blackboard work."

This was a case of defective distant vision. We corrected the little girl's eyesight, with the result that she forged ahead immediately in her studies.

Authorities assert that so-called dull, backward, stupid children suffer from defective eyesight. In most cases there is nothing wrong with these so-called stupid children. They are unfortunate; their vision is unwell.

We know the vital benefits of having children's eyes examined regularly; and that this should be done now—during the vacation period.

Won't you bring in your child for an immediate examination?

EL SEGUNDO BALL TEAM DEFEATS TUSTIN, 4-3

High Class Game Played Yesterday Afternoon at the Standard Oil Town

The Tustin ball team went into the camp of the Standard Oil club at El Segundo yesterday and came mighty near tying the can to the team on its own grounds. It was "some" game and was not decided until the eighth inning, when the El Segundo swatters managed to nose-out one score ahead and remained in that position until the concluding inning. The score was 4 to 3, indicating the class of game that was played.

The El Segundos sent a semi-professional to the mound in the confident belief that they would walk all over the "boys from the country." They reckoned wrong for the home team pitcher was not in it with Tustin's twirler, Beck Lan Franco, and the Tus-tin team found the El Segundo pitcher for nine hits while the sluggers who draw their meal tickets from alleged
"tainted money" got only four hits off
Lan Franco.

El Segundo had a strong infield and some good sprinters, and everyone of the four states was made good for a run. Loose playing by the infield of Tustin in one of the early innings permitted the entertaining team to shoot three men over the home rubber. In the sixth, Tustin got busy and by a series of good hits tied the score. Three and three was the score up to the eighth when a lucky hit brought an El Segundo player tramping in to the home plate and giving the deciding tally.

The El Segundo band was out and enlivened the game by playing lively airs between each inning.
The Tustin team will have to "tramp" for a while. Work on the Tustin grounds to put them in better shape may make it necessary to play next Sunday at some other point.

day's game:

RAQUET FLOURISHERS PLAYING IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 14.—With the entire array of racket flourishers on hand today, play was speeded up in the national clay court tennis championship tournament at the South Side Tennis Club. Due to the belated appearance of several outside players, some were playing fourth rounds while others had not played their first when the games started today.

William T. Tilden, Jr., Philadelphia, and the former champion, William Johnston, San Francisco, are among the stars who came through the early rounds successfully in Sunday's play.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero: Bill Wambgsans.
The Cleveland second sacker, on the heel end of a triple steal, scored the winning run for the Indians in a 5 to 4 contest with the Senators.

One big inning—the sixth—gave the Giants six runs and an 8 to 2 victory over the Pirates.
Vicious hitting gave the Tigers another triumph over the Yanks, 5 to 4.
The Athletics were chopping blocks for the Browns, who smashed them twice 4 to 3 and 5 to 4, taking a tie for fourth place in the American league.

Hi Meyers stole home in a game that Brooklyn took from the Cardinals 3 to 1.

The White Sox had a narrow escape after gathering a 10-run lead over the Red Sox. Chicago finally won 14 to 9.

MAISEL AND HARSTAD REMAIN AT PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—George Maisel, outfielder and Oscar Harstad, pitcher, did not accompany the Beavers when they departed for Salt Lake last night.

Maisel, who injured his knee at Los Angeles recently, will join the team in San Francisco next week. Harstad will remain here until he gets into condition.

Manager McCredie expects to find George Hier, a northern Minnesota southpaw, awaiting him at Salt Lake.

Mitchell Now Just Manager Expects to End Season With Flag

CHICAGO, July 14.—Fred Mitchell of the Chicago Cubs isn't going to let a little thing like a presidency interfere with the winning of the national championship. He has quit the presidency of the Cubs and is now just a plain manager, driving forward to another pennant. The Cubs are in hall-ing distance and Mitchell believes they'll win again. Hereafter the presidency of the Cubs will be held by William Veck, who was vice president under Mitchell.

DEMPSEY TO ACCEPT STAGE ENGAGEMENT

CHICAGO, July 14.—A new theatrical star, in the person of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, may soon shine in the constellation conducted by Flo Ziegfeld.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, told the United Press here yesterday that he is seriously considering an offer from Ziegfeld to star the champion in a traveling athletic tournament. Dempsey is to do three rounds at each performance, supported by singing and dancing girls and athletes of prominence.

The two Jacks left Chicago for Los Angeles in the evening. Both Kearns and Dempsey said Willard was technically knocked out in the third round and not in the fourth, as many experts claim. Kearns also said that Ollie Pecord, referee, and "those society men acting as timers and judges got buck fever. They lost their heads. The fight was given to us by Pecord in the first round and that's when it was really over."

Kearns said he expected Dempsey to clean up $250,000 in the next year.
Scores of offers are coming in daily for the services of the champion, he said. A circus and several movie offers are under consideration along with lesser offers from vaudeville, burlesque and park managers. One Chicago promoter offered $15,000 per week for a few exhibitions.

Dempsey said he would defend his title on this side and would not go to Europe under any consideration.
Dempsey will not fight for at least a year, as there is no one in sight at this time who is entitled to a bout with his man at present, Kearns said.

LONG VIEW IS AGAIN UNDER MARTIAL LAW

LONG VIEW, Texas, July 14.—Long View was under martial law today, following the shooting of another negro by whites yesterday, and 250 Texas national guardsmen, with a company of state rangers, were collecting firearms in the county.

More than 1,000 firearms had been turned in early today, including flint-locks, air rifles and "muzzle loaders."

Governor Hobby's declaration of martial law came at noon yesterday after additional guardsmen had been rushed here from half a dozen surrounding towns. All persons except military and rangers were kept off the streets last night.

ROAD ENGINEER PLAN IS BEING DISCUSSED

At Least Three Supervisors Here In Favor of New System

With a new state law going into effect on July 22 under which any board of supervisors of the state may put the road system of the county under one head, the question as to whether or not the system will be adopted will be up before every board of supervisors in the state. The plan is being discussed quietly by probably nearly every board in the state.

It seems more than likely that the road engineer plan will be put into effect here, for it is known that at least three of the supervisors are in favor of it. The matter has not been talked over at any of the meetings of the board, and may not be for some time. However, it seems a certainty that within a few weeks the matter will be passed upon by the Orange county board.

The new road engineer law provides that the supervisors may appoint, and upon petition of twenty-five percent of the vote cast at the last election for governor, must appoint, a road engineer who will have executive power and charge of roadwork throughout the county, with the right to hire and discharge road workers.

At present each supervisor has executive power within his own district, and the work is done through a road boss who is answerable to his supervisor. Under the new plan instead of being executive road heads, the supervisors will be in an advisory position, still with authority to direct the general road building plans of the county and to have general supervision over the work of the road engineer.

Under the law, the board of supervisors shall fix the salary of the road engineer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

PASADENA, July 14.—The annual conference of the Baptist Young People's Societies of Southern California will be held at Switzer's Camp, beginning next Saturday and continuing for ten days. Among the speakers will be the Rev. James A. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Los Angeles. Nearly 200 delegates are registered for the conference sessions.

LANCASTER, July 14.—Arrangements are being made by the management to build a structure on the Fair Grounds out of baled alfalfa hay. The size will be 30x50 feet, and some 500 bales will be required to complete it. The building will be used to show exhibits.

PORTERVILLE, July 14.—Residents of the city limits sections have complained to the Police Commissioner that since the completion of the county highways and the paving of the streets leading to them, motorists are showing a fine disregard for the traffic laws, and through their speeding and the use of open mufflers late at night have become a nuisance.

MENTONE, July 14.—The motorists who go to the mountains are enjoying a new sport, that of "coasting" on the mountain grades, using an automobile instead of a sled. Some records of from sixteen to seventeen miles straight coasting have been made by drivers who know the Mill Creek road well and know how to take the turns and the grades so as to get the maximum of coasting without danger.

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—The fall of the Bastille and the ascendancy of French liberty is being celebrated today with an elaborate program at Shrine Auditorium under the auspices of the French colony of Southern California. The afternoon events started at 2 p. m. and those of the evening will begin at 8 o'clock. The celebration will reach its height with a grand ball.

PASADENA, July 14.—The fifth annual camp meeting of the Nazarene churches of Southern California is now in progress on the campus of the Pasadena University and will continue for a week. The speakers at the sessions, which are held three times daily, are the Rev. Charles H. Babcock, the Rev. Theodore Beebe and the Rev. C. E. Cornell. John Moore is musical director, while the camp meeting soloist is Miss Virginia Shafer, a former grand opera singer.

POLICEMAN ARRESTED, MARRIED HERE JULY 2

LONG BEACH, July 14.—Henry M. Holbrook, the special police officer who is in the county jail charged with extortion and grand larceny, was married in Santa Ana July 2 to Miss Mary A. Wardona, aged 22, formerly of Denver, Colo. Holbrook is 36. They had been residing at 640 Locust avenue. Mrs. Holbrook is said to have gone to the home of friends following her husband's futile efforts Saturday afternoon to secure the necessary $1200 bail bond. He and Sergeant Ralph Powell, charged with the same offense, were expected to be arraigned today before Justice of the Peace W. S. Brayton.

News Notes

From This Week's Church Bulletins

First Presbyterian

The Estella Daniel Chapter of the Westminster Guild will meet on Wednesday evening. Picnic supper at Birch Park at 6 o'clock. Bring needle and thread for sewing, later, at the home of Miss Leslie Smith.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in this church next Lord's Day morning. A preparatory service will be held on Friday evening at 7:30.

A number of things needed by Miss Estella Daniel and the girls of her school are being collected by the women of the Missionary Society to be sent as gifts to Miss Daniel. Miss Smith of Anaheim, who sails about August 1 to be Miss Daniels' assistant, will take these things, as there is no parcel post service to Valparaiso. Any one wishing to have a share in this work will please notify Mrs. E. L. Morrison, Mrs. D. A. Bear, or Mrs. Herbert Rankin.

First Congregational

On Thursday evening of this week we will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams, 1601 North Main street. The topic of the evening will be, "Old Testament Parables." Find a parable in the Old Testament and tell us about it.

Ruth Langley has earned the sixth year pin given by the Sunday school for perfect attendance. That means that Ruth has not missed Sunday school for six years. Both the scholar and the school are to be congratulated.

We welcome into our membership the following: Mrs. Martha E. Rutter, East 20th street; Mrs. Nellie Kutter McQuiston, East 20th street; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Rowland, 103 Bush street; Mrs. Mabel C. West, 1732 Valencia street; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shriver, 715 North Main street.

First Methodist

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will NOT meet on the regular third Wednesday this month, but will meet on the fourth, July 23. This will give every member an opportunity to attend the service held at Arbanar Huntington Beach, every afternoon at 4 o'clock, under the auspices of the W. F. M. S.

Your most earnest consideration is asked on the following: Shall the church employ a deaconess next year? Shall the church arrange for more efficient development of our Boy Scouts? Shall we plan a strong Tuesday evening evangelistic meeting of the Brotherhood in "men's work for men"? Shall we plan an educational program for our entire membership and constituency, including a "Fellowship Meal" every Thursday evening, followed by classes in "Personal Work," "Teacher Training," "Mission Study," "Health Culture," and "Parent-Teachers' Study of the Spiritual Problems of Home and Childhood"? The Sunday school and official boards have voted to investigate and perhaps to plan for a program of this kind for next year. What do you think about it?

The official board and the Sunday school have appointed the following committees to study and work out a program for the development of our church life:

Educational Program, Women—Mrs. W. D. Baker, Mrs. John Clarkson, Miss Blanche Collings, Mrs. Emma Edwards, Mrs. J. G. Robertson, Mrs. A. J. Lasby, S. M. Davis, C. E. Kellogg, Joe Head, Burton Y. Neal. Committee on Church Affiliation and Boy Scout Assistant—A. H. Theal, J. W. McCormac, A. J. Lasby, Mrs. W. D. Snow.

The committees will be glad to receive suggestions from any members of the church and congregation. Let us give our best thought and prayer to this work.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock John W. Rushton, a noted orator of Leeds, England, will lecture in the First Church on "The Moral Message of Freedom to Capital and Labor." This will be a timely and profitable discussion, as the lecturer is familiar with the conditions and ambitions of labor and capital, both in England and America; and, as there is a growing internationalism among the laboring classes of the world, it is well for our citizens to be posted for intelligent action.

A. J. Lasby and wife leave this week for an extended visit in the East. They expect to see Washington and New York, and to visit the home folks.

"It pays to advertise." The judicious use of the daily press, setting forth a variety of attractive services is helping our evening audiences. The publicity committee believes in going after the people, and also in teaching loyalty to Christ and His principles when we get them to church.

NEW SURVEY FOR BIG IRRIGATION SYSTEM

CORNING, Cal., July 14.—A corps of surveyors has established its headquarters in Corning and are engaged in running a new survey of the main canal of the great Iron Canyon Irrigation system through Tehama and Glenn counties.

Work is going ahead on the survey of the dam above Red Bluff, while the survey being established here is partly to locate the boundaries of an irrigation district and partly to settle up the line of the main canal. This project, when completed, will be one of the greatest in the world, and will place thousands of acres around Corning, in southern Tehama county, in a state of thrifty and profitable cultivation. Where land is now sold at cheaper figures than in any other part of the state, increase in values is certain.

CONTROL GIVEN TO RAILROAD COMMISSION

Gets Authority Over Rates and Service of Storage of Foodstuffs

The new legislation signed by Governor Stephens and which will go into effect July 22, gives the Railroad Commission control of rates and service in the storage of food stuffs in warehouses and brings under regulation by the Railroad Commission persons and corporations furnishing heat, steam, etc., for domestic business use, and modifies certain requirements of the interurban motor bus business.

Most important of this legislation is that which calls upon the Railroad Commission to exercise the new function of regulating rates and service of storage of foodstuffs in warehouses. These warehouses include cold storage plants in which are stored all manner of foodstuffs such as butter, eggs, meat, vegetables, cheese, milk, game, poultry and fruit.

These warehouses were not put under the provisions of the Public Utility Act so that the commission could completely supervise them, but the jurisdiction of the commission is limited to control of rates and service.

The purpose as stated in this law is to safeguard the public against monopolies and to encourage competition by prohibiting discriminating practices by which fair competition is destroyed.

The Railroad Commission will make an investigation of all of the warehouses in the state in which these food stuffs are stored with a view to taking such action as it can under the terms of this bill to carry out its purposes.

The legislation as to heating corporations gives the Railroad Commission jurisdiction over such corporations to the same extent as other public utilities. This will involve rates, service, issue of securities and additions and betterments to plants.

The requirements heretofore in existence with relation to the operation of interurban motor busses have been modified by new legislation so that it will not be necessary first to obtain permits from local governing bodies or municipalities through which the operation of motor busses is proposed. This will remove difficulties which have been experienced by applicants in securing local permits, without which the Railroad Commission was unable to issue a final certificate of public convenience and necessity. In many instances cities and counties objected to the law as it stood, claiming they had no ordinance covering the matter and that therefore permits were not necessary. Most of the cities will welcome this change as it will relieve them of considerable trouble in conforming with the procedure required by the old law.

POET'S UNREST LONG LIFE AND REASONS ARE DISCUSSED

Joaquin Miller Had Characteristics of the Western Immigrant

"My cradle was a covered wagon, pointed west," wrote Cincinnati Heiner Miller, better known by his pen name of "Joaquin." Miller further declared that his birth occurred while the wagon was crossing the line between Ohio and Indiana.

The incident is significant. Not a little of the "rude unrest" which Miller attributed to the western immigrant of covered wagon days surged in his own veins and cropped out at frequent intervals in his life and writing. No one fact is more characteristic of Miller than his sense of unending forward movement. It is the key note of "Columbus," doubtless the masterpiece of Miller, and several times called the best short poem produced in America since the Civil War.

Behind him lay the gray Azores, Behind him the ghost of shores, Behind him only shoreless seas, The good mate said, "Now must we pray."

For lo! the very stars are gone, Brave Odmr! speak; what shall I say?"

"Why, say, 'Sail on! Sail on! And on!'"

The same note is struck in Miller's spirited poem to "The Missouri," after referring to the Missouri as a "lord of strength," "yellow lion" and "mad molder of the continent," he concludes:

Hoar sire of hot, sweet Cuban seas, Gray father of the continent, Pierce fashioner of destinies, Of states thou hast upreared or rent, Thou know'st no limit; seas turn back, Bent, brown from the shaggy shore; But thou, in thy rest's track, Art lord and master evermore. Missouri, surge and sing and sweep, Missouri, master of the deep, From snow-reared Rockies to the sea, Sweep on, sweep on eternally!

Again there is the restless, irresistible forward movement in "Westward Ho," "By the Sun Down Seas," "Kit Carson's Ride," and many other of Miller's poems. Miller himself knew little rest, especially in his early life. Born "on the road," he spent his boyhood days in a frontier settlement and at the age of 11 started with his parents in an ox-drawn wagon on a seven months' trip to Oregon. A few years after he ran away from home, had many adventures with Indians, miners and desperadoes, went with the Walker filibustering expedition to Nicaragua and then returned to Oregon. He received some education at a pioneer "college," edited a paper, studied law, became a frontier judge and finally, at the age of 27, began to write verses.

In 1869 Miller went with a volume of his poems to San Francisco, where he expected a warm welcome by Bret Harte and other literati of the Overland Monthly. Being disappointed at the cool reception, he started east, met additional rebuffs in New York and then moved to London. After many efforts he succeeded in having a volume of his poems published and then London went wild about him, at least for a few weeks.

But Miller has always received more serious attention in England than in America, largely because of his cowboy pose and other oddities in dress, behavior and writing. He lived in a log cabin of his own construction in Washington, D. C., for several years and when he finally settled in California he had a separate dwelling for each member of his family in the be-

Detroit News Finds That Unalterable Rules Are Laid Down

Mrs. Louisa Wert, aged 103 years, six months and fifteen days, one of the oldest women in Pennsylvania, died from natural causes at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Solomon Henry of Oaks, Montgomery county. Mrs. Wert for a number of years attracted great interest owing to her remarkable constitution and to the fact that up to the time of her death she fortunately suffered little from the usual infirmities of old age. She was the widow of Isaac Wert, and is survived by two relatives only, the granddaughter, at whose home she passed away, and Mrs. C. F. Allen of Pottstown, Pa.

Another case of extraordinary longevity is that of Mrs. Mary Potter of Dwight, near Bloomington, Ill., who recently celebrated her 105th birthday. Mrs. Potter was born in Essex, N. Y., Feb. 23, 1814. In 1855 she settled on a farm with her husband in Dwight, and when he died in 1899 she made her home with her daughter, Margaret, with whom she is now living. Eight children were born to Mrs. Potter, and five of these have died.

Mrs. Potter can still read the newspapers and takes a keen interest in current topics. During the world war this remarkable old lady insisted upon doing her bit, made garments for the Belgian and French orphans and also knitted sweaters. She favors votes for women and says that the adoption of prohibition is a national blessing.

There are various interesting statements on record of individuals who attained an abnormal length of life. There are the famous cases of Thomas Parr, reputed to have reached 152 years; of Henry Jenkins, whose age is given as 169, and of the Countess of Desmond, accredited with 140 years. However, an investigation of many famous cases of extraordinary longevity have placed great doubt on their truth, the evidence in their favor being the reverse of scientific.

What is one man's meat may not exactly be another man's poison, yet a dozen or more theories may be given as to how long life may be attained, but all of such theories are constantly being set to naught by real facts. For instance, a great austerity did not kill St. Anthony, who is said to have lived to be 105. Again the luxuries and dissipation of court life permitted Titian to paint an excellent picture when he was 96 years old. However, right living, while not so noticeable in any individual, has an undoubted influence to increase the length of life in the offspring.

It is true that a poet wrote a famous hymn: "I Would Not Live A-ways," yet people are interested in living as long as they can, as that is one of the great laws of nature. Even advanced old age, bringing dim sight, loss of hearing and general decline, is not without its compensations and Longfellow proved that "age is opportunity no less than youth."

It is only one person should live in a house.

Miller, like Whitman, has been regarded, especially abroad, as a typical American poet. It is doubtful if the claim, which is based largely upon superficialities, can be established. But it is very true that Miller's eager restlessness and his irresistible "westwardness" are characteristically "United States."

The last lines of "Columbus" give point to the idea:

He gained a world; he gave that world Its grudge lesson: "On, sail on!"—Kansas City Star.

START WORK ON GUSTLIN HEADS IMPROVING OF COURTHOUSE DECORATION AT AUTO SHOW

County Officers Will Have to Get Used to Hammers, Saws and Falling Plaster

There's peace and harmony at the courthouse no longer. A "disturbing element" has complicated the otherwise serene atmosphere. For be it known, that from now on for several weeks there will be the sound of hammers hammering, saws sawing, and cement mixers mixing in and around and about the local seat of government. Not to mention the scraping of step-ladders, the tramping of heavy feet, and an occasional dull thud when a chunk of plaster tumbles to the floor.

Chris McNeill last week was given the contract for remodeling the second floor of the courthouse, the primary purpose being to enlarge Department 2 of the Superior Court, and he lost no time getting on the job.

Before the present partitions could be torn down to make way for the improvements, all the furniture and equipment had to be removed from the affected regions, and this work was well along by noon today. The first office to be "moved out" was that of the county school superintendent, which goes to the McCormack block on North Main street. Superintendent Mitchell tried to smile as he surveyed the "leavin's" along about lunch time. Next in order were Judge Williams' chambers, where the principal operation will center. Next was the district attorney's office, and visitors there found it necessary to dodge stacks of desk-drawers, book cases, and other paraphernalia which were being moved to the former school superintendent's quarters.

An elevator is to be erected outside the sheriff's and recorder's offices to carry material up and down, and attaches of these offices are also looking forward to a pleasant summer, with north windows closed to keep out the dust, and little cool air in sight unless somebody "loosens up" and presents them with electric fans.

TOOK WHOLE ROAD FOR MEXICAN AUTO DRIVER

South Main street was hardly wide enough this morning for Jesus Ojeda of 415 Garfield, who was driving in from Delhi. The street was much too narrow, and it was all Ojeda could do to prevent his car going into the ditch. By hook, the supervisors ought to be admonished to widen the pavement. Just then Joe Burke happened along, and Ojeda miraculously managed to pass him, but not until Burke had got out of his way. Burke sent a wireless to Motorcar Carr, who found Ojeda still coming into town. The curbs on South Main were too close to suit him, so he turned at Bishop and started north on Sycamore. Then Carr stopped the man and took him to jail, charged with driving while intoxicated. Also he took a gallon bottle of Dago red, nearly full, from which it is presumed Ojeda had been treating his friends, and filed it for exhibit when Ojeda is able to be taken into court.

AUTO CLUB WANTS TO ERECT SPEED SIGNS

On July 22 a state law goes into effect specifying the style and kind of signs which must be erected as warning to auto drivers at the entrance to business districts and closely populated sections. The Auto Club of Southern California has written the Board of Supervisors that it will erect such signs in Orange county without cost if the county will agree to assume the charges of maintenance. The 24-inch signs, together with post, cost $2.35. The Auto Club suggests, among others, two 15-mile warning signs at La Habra, two 20-mile signs at Westminster, three 15-mile signs at Garden Grove, and three 20-mile signs at Olive.

REJENO ORTEZ FOUND GUILTY BEATING WIFE

Rejeno Ortiz beat up his wife. There was no doubt of that in Justice Cox's mind after the trial, when Josefa Ortiz, the complaining witness, had told her story. But she may have needed it, and there were extenuating circumstances which inclined Hizzoner to deal with the culprit leniently. Ortiz promised to be good and he was given a jail sentence, suspended for six months on condition that he refrain from any more such beatings during that time.

GIRL WITH PERFUME "SOUSE" AFFECTIONATE

VENICE, July 14.—The affectionate attitude of Lillian El Felt, 22, pretty entertainer of San Francisco, who persisted in hugging many men on Windward avenue, Venice, last night, resulted in her arrest. Incidentally it was the first case in the beach city of a woman arrested for drunkenness since July 1.

According to the Venice police, Miss El Felt arrived from the north yesterday morning and went to the beach to renew cabaret acquaintances with performers there. She, the officers allege, procured a bottle of perfume, and therefore acquired a "lily-of-the-valley" tag.

Former Santa Anan Is Given Praise By Honolulu Star-Bulletin

One of the most prominent figures handling a big automobile show held in Honolulu the middle of June was Walter F. Gustlin, formerly of Santa Ana, now in the automobile business in Honolulu.

Concerning Gustlin's part in the big show, the Honolulu Star-Bulletin had the following:

Walter F. Gustlin of the American Hawaiian Motors Co., Ltd., has surpassed himself in the matter of providing an automobile building for the motor dealers in which to house the automobile show. The unanimous verdict this year is that Walter F. Gustlin, with the assistance of Twigg Smith, gave the dealers the finest building that ever contained an automobile show in the islands.

Not only was the building so constructed that it permitted of daylight throughout all sections but its decorative features were such that the whole blended into one vast garden effect, that carried out the idea desired both by the dealers and by the committee in charge of the show.

The Difference.

Walter Gustlin had charge of the decorations at the show last year. This year he is chairman of the decorations committee. Last year there were plenty of paper streamers from the roof. This year there were none because Gustlin had time to have it so arranged that lattice work would make the roof look other than bare and empty. He did not need the paper flags and streamers.

"The whole effect this year was towards that of an Italian garden. Lattice work fences divided the booths. Lattice work made up the low walls of the building; the rest being open to permit the entry of light. Down the center of the structure ran a series of pillars with pergolas upon which ran a ladder carrying bougainvillea vines. Here and there were bronze lamps of the indirect lighting kind. At night with 10,000 candle

BIG AGGREGATE OF INSURANCE IS WRITTEN

Farm Mutuals and Their Operations In This Country Are Reviewed

California has approximately twenty-five Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance companies with a large aggregate amount of insurance which is confined to county and unexposed risks. These companies have been of great benefit to farmers in providing them with cheap insurance and also in an educational way in teaching them to systematically use measures for fire protection.

Orange county has one of the best of these companies, excellently managed, with few fire losses of consequence and with low rates.

The United States now has nearly 2,000 farmers' mutual companies with a total of $6,000,000,000 of insurance now in force. A report of the prevailing companies obtained from replies to questionnaires sent out by the bureau of markets show that of the 1161 companies replying to questionnaires, 124 were incorporated by special act of Congress, while 967 were incorporated under general statute, and twenty-one existed as voluntary associations without incorporation. The small membership of any company was twenty-five, and the largest was 22,132, the average membership being 1,532. Nearly four-fifths of the 1161 companies reporting on membership were organizations of less than 2,000 members. The prevailing plan is to allow each member one vote regardless of the amount of insurance or number of policies held. More than four-fifths of the companies follow this plan.

The average, as well as the most common number of directors for the companies reporting, was none, the favorite term for directors being either one or three years. In a number of laws more recently enacted, it is specifically prescribed that the term of power abate the effect was wonderful.

"The whole theme was in bronze and white. At the entrance were boxes of plants and throughout the building hung ferns and trailing moss. Potted palms turned the vast area into a garden. It was the attraction of the entire fair and the manner of staging the show and the plan used is due entirely to the efforts of Mr. Gustlin.

director shall be three years, and that one-third of the number shall be elected each year.

All the companies returning a questionnaire gave information concerning the hazards against which insurance was written. Thirty-three companies insured against fire only, 958 against fire and lightning, and 170 gave combined protection covering fire, lightning and windstorms. The giving of the last-named form of protection can be engaged in with safety only by the larger companies with risks widely distributed.

Among the 898 companies which reported the maximum single risk accepted by them, the highest for any company was $15,000, and the lowest $750. A total of 349 companies reported their maximum single risks as large as $4000, and only fifty-eight companies provided for a maximum of less than $2000. The average maximum risk for all companies reporting was $3994.

There is a wide variety in the plans and practices of farmers' mutual insurance companies and they could be greatly improved by standardization. While rigid uniformity may not be desirable a reasonable approach to uniformity in the plans and practices, at least within a given state, would be a material advantage. The general public would be more easily convinced of the soundness and real value of these companies as a class. The approval and support of the insurance department of the state would be more easily secured than is sometimes the case under present conditions. Financial institutions which lend money to farmers would more readily accept the policies of these companies as collateral, and lastly the companies themselves would find it easier to co-operate with one another in matters of re-insurance or joint insurance, as well as in meeting other problems that arise.

STATE HIGHWAY EXPENDITURES $504,349 IN COUNTY

Commission's Report Shows Mileage and Cost Up to June 30, 1918

An analysis of data appearing in the biennial report of the Highway Commission, showing contracts for state highway work completed to June 30, 1918, has been made by the Tax Payers' Association of California, and the results shown, county by county, in condensed form.

On the date given the contracts completed in Orange county covered the following work and expenditures:

Fifteen-foot concrete base—Miles, 31.16; cost, $293,375; approximate cost per mile, $9736.

Eighteen-foot concrete base—Miles, 11.16; cost, $100,296; approximate cost per mile, $8987.

Grading—miles, 3.80; cost, $41,379; approximate cost per mile, $10,888.

Oil surfacing—Miles, 30.34; cost, $32,591; approximate cost per mile, $1074.

Topeka surfacing—Miles, 6.45; cost, $24,022; approximate cost per mile, $3724.

Constructing detours—miles, 15.08; cost, $2686; approximate cost per mile, $178.

Total cost—$504,349.

The total amount of highway bond money expended in this county to June 30, 1918, for completed and uncompleted contracts, etc., was as follows:

First bond issue $528,908.27
Second bond issue 1,177.10

Total $530,085.37

It appears that on June 30, 1918, there were no completed contracts in either of the following fourteen counties: Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Del Norte, Inyo, Lake, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Plumas, San Francisco, San Joaquin, Sierra, Trinity. There were uncompleted contracts, however, covering certain work in four of these counties, namely, Calaveras, Inyo, Lassen and Nevada.

Average Cost Per Mile

Computations on the basis of the various contract figures, indicate for the state at large, the following average costs per mile for the several classes of highway work here mentioned:

12-ft. concrete base $ 8,536
15-ft. concrete base 10,817
Grading 10,805

Oil surfacing 825
18-ft. concrete base 11,799
20-ft. concrete base 17,185

24-ft. Topeka on macadam 13,565

A review of the contracts reveals some wide and surprising variations of cost, but these are due, doubtless, to peculiar conditions attaching to individual pieces of work. For instance, 5.27 miles of 12-foot oil macadam cost at the rate of $19,358 per mile, which is nearly double the average cost per mile of 658 miles of 15-foot concrete base. Grading costs ranged from $3294 per mile to $17,442 per mile. As another instance of variation, 6.57 miles of 12-foot concrete with oil surface cost $25,144 per mile, while 22.80 miles of 15-foot concrete with oil surface cost $9,444 per mile and 13.49 miles of 20-foot concrete with oil surface cost $10,915 per mile.

Many similar apparent discrepancies as between average costs and individual costs are reflected. The period of performance undoubtedly has affected costs quite radically. Mountain grading is more expensive than valley grading. Location of work is an important factor. Numerous explanations of cost variation, it is to be presumed, could be advanced.

Fishermen Catch Few Large Ones At County Park

BY the use of every kind of fish bait known, with poles that ranged from a willow rod to the highest priced whalebone, about 150 men, women and children gathered along the lake in Orange County Park Saturday afternoon, and at the arrival of 4 o'clock the fishing fiesta began. For three hours the sport was kept up.

There were just about as many black bass in the lake today as there were Saturday morning, for only one was caught. It was a big three-pounder, brought in by City Attorney G. H. Scott, who employed a spinner. Supervisor T. B. Talbert caught a good-sized blue-gill.

There were scores of little perch brought in. The limit for the day was ten fish or five pounds. Nobody got the pound-age limit, but several got the numerical, among them being Virginia Slabaugh, Helen Slabaugh, Thelma Patton, Mildred Paul and Teddy Stephenson.

The fish didn't bite nearly so well as had been expected. John Ross, Dr. Wright and John Joplin used pollywog bait, but pollywogs proved to be no allurement.

S.A. WOMAN'S SON IS KILLED AT BAKERSFIELD

Edward Heagy, who was killed Friday at Bakersfield in an auto truck accident, was a son of Mrs. D. H. Heagy of this city. Mrs. Heagy left at once for that city following receipt of news of the death of her son.

Her sister, Mrs. Ada F. Champ, of San Diego, is here to stay with her mother, Mrs. K. S. Farnsworth, during Mrs. Heagy's absence. Mrs. Champ is an artist and formerly resided in this city. She is now conducting a big studio at San Diego.

Gerald Champ, her son, accompanied her, and returned to San Diego today. He holds an important position on the San Diego Union and Tribune as head of the advertising service department, having charge of preparation of advertising for big business firms.

SUSPECTED MAN GLAD TO BE FOUND IN JAIL

READING, Pa., July 14.—Fred Noll considers himself lucky in having been in jail. The police have been looking for him in connection with the mysterious shooting of Harry Drey in Hampden park while with Noll's sister, Helen. Noll is said to have threatened Drey because the latter was a married man. The police discovered recently that Noll has been in jail for a week on a trespassing charge. "Gee, I'm glad I'm in jail," was Noll's comment when he learned the officers had suspected him. The police now believe a woman may have been the assailant.

TIME TANGLE SAVES FINE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 14.—The extra hours of daylight weren't legal anyhow. So Judge J. H. Mitchell decided recently in common pleas court when he reversed the decision of Mayor William Kuenzel, who had fined C. C. Stoller, ex-saloonkeeper, $50 and costs for keeping his saloon open past 10 o'clock daylight time. Stoller kept central time, which the court held is the only legal time in Ohio.

POULTRYMEN TO MEET TO HEAR DIRECTOR OF MARKETS

Association Gathering In This County Is Thursday at Garden Grove

Elaborate preparations are being made for the convention of Southern California poultrymen covering practically all of the southern counties of the state beginning at Escondido at 1 o'clock this afternoon and at Riverside this evening.

The meetings are for the purpose of presenting the new yearly contracts to the members of the Poultry Producers of Southern California. The Riverside meeting is to be a consolidated session for both Riverside and San Bernardino counties, and promises to be interesting in the extreme to anyone interested in the poultry business, whether a member of the organization or not.

Among the speakers who are scheduled to be at Riverside are Col. Harris Weinstock, state market director; H. W. Stanley, manager of the Poultry Producers; L. E. Brooks, secretary of the association; J. M. Davison, president of the Poultry Producers; Judge Willis I. Morrison, general counsel; F. D. Cornell, special representative, and Directors T. C. Browning of Fontana, C. G. Ross of Pomona, and N. A. Schotfield of Gardena.

The week's program for the poultrymen was outlined last night by President Davison as follows: Monday, 1 p. m., Escondido; 7 p. m., Riverside; Tuesday, 1:30 p. m., Pomona; Wednesday, 8 p. m., San Gabriel; Thursday, 8 p. m., Garden Grove, Orange county; Friday, 8 p. m., Van Nuys.

Practically all of the speakers to be at Riverside Monday night will make it a point to be present at the majority of the meetings named above. Col. Weinstock and President Davison expect to be present at the Garden Grove session.

Represents County
W. L. Grubb of Santa Ana is the Orange county representative on the board of directors of the Poultry Producers, Inc. He has made arrangements for the Garden Grove meeting to be held at the school house at 5 p. m., July 17.

In a circular letter to members of the association, Grubb states that he has gone out of the poultry business and that the association in this county must now select another representative.

The letter has the following: "The purpose of this meeting is to furnish you first-hand information as to the operation of the Poultry Producers of Southern California, Inc., and give you an idea of its scope and magnitude."

"I want to say that in my opinion the poultry business, and the production of eggs in particular, is only in its infancy in Southern California. With intelligent, loyal co-operation it has a most profitable future, as our achievements in the last two years have under abnormal conditions. Co-operation is much more vital to success in the collection and distribution of your products than in the citrus, walnut, or any of the other industries now handling their products under the co-operative system."

"There will be at the meeting on the 17th, much discussion that you ought to hear, and an opportunity to join with your fellow-workers in building for future prosperity."

"The important question for us to consider," said Grubb today, "is, shall we be able to say at what price the surplus eggs shall go into cold storage, whether by the packers at their price or by us at our price? If by us at our price, it can only be done by co-operation of the producers in sufficient numbers to maintain a strong organization. We can't operate successfully with 25 per cent of the production. We must have more members with more hens."

"It's plain and easy to see if the packers make the price it will be a low price when we have the eggs and high when they have them. If the normal consumption of eggs in Los Angeles is 800 cases per day, and we produce 1200 cases and dump them on the market, some one must take over the surplus 400 cases. Are we going to do it or permit others to do it for their benefit or we for ours? Our association has been doing this and the non-member has gotten as much benefit as the member who pays the bill. We have got to a point where the outsider must help."

HEN IS SOME LAYER OR SOMEBODY LIED

LA CROSSE, Wis., July 14.—No one in La Crosse believed it when Gus Rhodes, farmer, living near West Salem, claimed he had a hen which was laying six and seven eggs a day. Poultry men sent J. H. Benson of La Crosse to the farm to watch the hen for two days. Later Benson appeared in the county judge's office here and swore to an affidavit that Rhodes' hen laid fourteen eggs in two days. The next day Rhodes called up and announced the hen laid nine eggs that morning.

IVAN GILLASPY IN CITATION ORDER AFTER WAR END

Santa Ana Yank Is Honored For Assisting Wounded Comrade Oct. 21

Ivan R. Gillaspay, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gillaspay, 1125 West First street, has been cited for his bravery in assisting a wounded comrade during the world war. The citation was issued long after the armistice was signed, the date of the order being June 3, after Gillaspay and his company reached Germany.

In a letter to his mother he said that he had given up all hope of getting away from Germany, and would not believe that he was on his way home until after he was on a boat bound for America.

Gillaspay is a bugler with Company C, Twelfth Machine Gun Battalion, and his citation order was issued at Remagen, Germany, on June 3, on recommendation of Lieutenant Albert E. Merrill, first lieutenant, who commanded the company. The citation reads: "About October 21, 1918, at Boise de Fay, Bugler Gillaspay was with a detail taking food to the lines. When we were met by a heavy barrage one of the men was severely wounded. Bugler Gillaspay, regardless of his own safety, aided his comrade in gaining the rear, thereby showing fine courage and devotion to duty."

Bugler Gillaspay has sent his citation papers here to his mother to preserve them for him.

SOUTH AMERICA OBJECTIVE OF ROUSSELLES

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rousselle of Balboa have made all preparations for departing on the 17th inst. for an extensive traveling trip. They will keep on the move most of the time, and as their absence from home will be of about six months' duration, they will see a considerable portion of this old world.

On the first leg of their journey they will go to Seattle, thence to Skagway, Alaska. Returning to Seattle they will head for Glacier and Yellowstone parks, working around to Quebec, Canada, and then back to New York, where they will visit a sister of Mrs. Rousselle, Boston, the home of both, and where both have many relatives, will be on their itinerary.

After paying their respects to relatives, they will go down to South America, if steamer accommodations are not taken up too far in advance of a possible sailing date within the time they have allotted to the journey.

They will go to Buenos Ayres, Valparaiso, and from these points will visit other ports and sections.

FIND SUICIDE'S KNIFE AFTER THIRTY YEARS

FINDLAY, O., July 14.—A thirty-year mystery was cleared up recently at the Hancock County infirmary when George Bailey found a butcher knife between two studdings in one of the walls of the abandoned building which is being torn down by order of the county commissioners.

Thirty years ago an inmate of the institution cut his throat from ear to ear. No knife or sharp instrument was ever found with which the deed might have been committed.

According to the theory advanced after the discovery of the knife by Bailey, the suicide placed the knife on top of a beam and it fell between the studdings, where it remained for thirty years. The knife still retains its razor edge and is only slightly corroded.

MAYOR DWYER, ANAHEIM SUGGESTS CITY PHONE

ANAHEIM, July 14.—"Why not condemn the pesky phone system, take it over and let the city run it?" Mayor Dwyer put up to the city council in commenting upon the greatly inferior phone service.

"There was a fire the other day, and it might have proven very damaging, because there was no phone service and the fire department could not be located. Something must be done to protect the city from fire," said the mayor.

City Attorney Ames said it would be possible to terminate the company's franchise if violation of its terms can be shown.

"A city of the sixth class has the right to operate a municipal phone system," continued Ames.

Girls Serve Marine Boys With Cold Milk on Torrid Parade Route in New York

Marines Enjoying Cool Beverages Handed Out By Girls

Sea Soldiers Put Away Icy Drink In Hurry on Hot Day

NEW YORK, July 14.—Nobody ever accused the marine corps boys of being milk sops but some New York girls declare the sea soldiers can put away a powerful lot of the lactical fluid.

The girls ought to know because they handed out the milk to the fighting lads recently. During a big parade here on one of the hot days, the marines took a long hike which was not any too pleasant on the hot streets. They grew very thirsty and someone noticing that fact got busy and quickly brought up a lot of bottled milk.

Girls who were helping at a reception for the marines, were summoned and were soon busy passing out the cold bottled milk to the thirsty men. The milk did not last long, but while it was going strong the marine lads surely enjoyed it.

as oppressive as the old Czar regime organization. The political structure built by the Bolsheviks has been cleverly designed. It is intended not only to maintain order, but also stifle political opposition.

The government rests upon the local soviets as a basis. The local soviets are elected by the workmen and peasants.
Bourgeoisie do not have the right of suffrage. Small shopkeepers and what corresponds to the American middle class are included among the bourgeoisie.

The local soviets elect delegates to the national or All-Russian Soviet Congress, meeting in Moscow at least three times a year. One delegate is elected from every one hundred and twenty thousand inhabitants of the country and one from every twenty-five thousand in the cities. Soviet is simply the Russian word for council or assembly.

The workman thus has several times as much representation in the central soviets congress as the peasant on the land. This is provided by the constitution.
It might be added that the workman is far more communistic in his ideas than the peasant. Bolshevik supporters are far more numerous in cities than in the country.

The national All-Russian soviet congress elects from its members a Central Executive Committee of about one hundred and fifty which stays in session and conducts the legislative business. This executive committee elects, mostly from its members, the cabinet of eighteen members.

At present the most powerful body in Russia is the Extraordinary Supreme Council of Six, appointed by the legislative bodies to exercise a dictatorship over Russia as long as military enemies oppose the Bolsheviks.
Lenine, Trotsky and Tschitcherin are the principal members of this council of six. The others are Melnikangley, labor leader; Rikoff, an industry expert,
and Kalenin.

President of Russia.
The president of Russia, theoretically, is the chairman of the Central Executive Committee. At present he is Michael Kalenin, a peasant. The Bolshevik leaders are capitalizing the fact that Kalenin is a peasant to win the support of the peasants. As a matter of fact, Lenine, as head of the cabinet of eighteen, is actual head of Russia.
His position is similar to that of minister-president or prime-minister.

The Bolsheviks boast that they now have a constitutional republic with a one-chamber legislature and that their form of government is not so radical as people suppose. The constitution was adopted by the third All-Russian Congress. It is claimed this congress is a representative body, though the indirect system of election does not allow the people to say much regarding its membership.

People of Moscow familiar with the personnel of the Soviet Congress say that at least fifty per cent of the members are professional agitators or political labor leaders. The percentage is even higher in the Executive Committee and there are no real workmen in the actual government itself. Writers and so-called leaders compose the cabinet.

The form of the Russian government would not be so bad were it not for the opposition. No opposition to the party in power is tolerated, and no other party can get into power.

No other party is recognized but the communists. These are divided into Mensheviks and Bolsheviks, and most of the Menshevik leaders have been driven from the country. The Bolsheviks in theory are opposed to force to bring about revolution. They would rely on evolution. The Bolsheviks say anything is justified in fighting capital.

Most of the remaining Mensheviks have joined the Bolsheviks and hold office. No one but communists can hold offices of political importance. If this is not true by law, it is by practice.
It has been easy to "stack" the lists of candidates for election so that none but communists run for election to soviets.

Everything is done through the medium of the communist party. No other party is allowed to exist or to hold meetings or to have anything published.
Many Russians want a Socialist-Democratic party, but so far the Bolsheviks refuse to permit its organization.

Only the chosen can belong to the communist party. Membership is estimated at a half-million now. If any members of the party object to you, your chances of ever being admitted into the Bolshevik fraternity are poor.
Once a member of the party, you are entitled to carry a gun. You can also look forward to getting a political post, probably as a minor commissaire at first, with the possibility of working up to a headquarters job. Commissaires are sent out from Moscow to practically all villages to supervise and instruct the local soviets. They also control all travelers.

Around the activities of this vast political machine there is a certain glamor. The sincere communists feel that they are the chosen few upon whom falls the tremendous responsibility of defending the Russian revolution.
The insincere communists appreciate the fact that they are at least defending their jobs.

Since the economic platform makes everyone dependent on the state, the communist commissaires do exercise great power and they feel their importance. Most of those close to the people are extremely young, which adds to their enthusiasm. To an outsider, the red-taped dictatorship of the communist is alternately ludicrous and tragic, but that's all. In Russia it is an earthly Utopia.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE.

FOREIGNERS NOT WANTED IN RUSSIA

Wilson's Name Found Not Popular With Bolshevik
Heads In Moscow

By FRANK J. TOYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 14.—Though President Wilson's name carries great weight with the masses of Russia, it is not a synonym for popularity with the bolshevik leaders, who have finally come to the conclusion that the president is a "dangerous man."

The bolshevik leaders do not say much regarding Wilson, and are very diplomatic in their attitude toward him. They frankly admit this is because they hope for recognition and help from America. Their hopes are growing fainter, but have not been given up. From other nations the bolsheviks expect nothing, unless a world revolution comes.

The attitude of the ordinary Russian,
if he can read, is quite different.
An incident which occurred to the United Press correspondent as he came through the German-Russian front in Lithuania illustrates the general impression regarding Wilson.

The correspondent was exchanged in the middle of No-Man's Land by the Germans for two hundred prisoners which the bolsheviks were returning to Germany. To the dismay of the German officers, fifty of the prisoners were entirely new citizens for the Fatherland—they were pretty Russian wives the German soldiers had acquired in Russia.

Wagons Are Exchanged
While this body of prisoners was being escorted to the German front by the bolsheviks, the correspondent sat in the drosky of an old Lithuanian, whose wagon had been taken from the procession in exchange for the one from the white side of the line which the correspondent had brought out.
The old Lithuanian was a shrewd old character, who had learned German during the invasion in the days of Brest-Litovsk. When asked if he were a bolshevik himself, he studied the correspondent carefully, and finally said: "You're the representative of President Wilson, aren't you?"
"Who is he?"
"I heard the Germans tell the bolshevik leaders that."
"Well the Germans told them wrong.
I'm an American, but that's all."
"It's all the same," insisted the old

Lithuanian driver, "I can trust you, and tell you what I think. No, I'm not a bolshevik at heart. I have to be for the present, because they'd take my horse and wagon, if I were not. It's business, just like everyone else is doing."

Word Passed Along
Later the old Lithuanian passed the word to my guard that there was some one from President Wilson's land. The word went along from guard to guard, until the arrival in Moscow, and always the name of Wilson was used with considerable impression to everyone.

In Moscow, however, foreigners are not welcome. In spite of the invitation he had received in Berlin to go to Moscow and see for himself the Utopia of the bolsheviks, the United Press correspondent once arrived there was assured he was extremely unwelcome.

The bolshevik police, to whom the correspondent was first taken, was puzzled to know what to do with a foreigner who had slipped into Moscow through the back door—Lithuanian front. He finally "passed the buck" to the foreign office, and the correspondent was allowed to stay a week before he was put out.

Before he left, however, a manifest was passed by the foreign office and the military authorities jointly that no more foreigners are to be allowed to enter Russia until peace is made with the rest of the world. Correspondents are to be stopped at the border, said the proclamation. If any slip in, they are to be arrested and either jailed or thrown out.

CHAPMAN WELL IS INCREASING IN PRODUCTION

Has Increased From 2700 to 4013 Barrels Per Day

FULLERTON, July 13.—The Chapman well is astonishing its owners by the tremendous increase of production. Ten days ago this well was making 2700 barrels. The output has gradually increased from day to day until the astonishing figure of 4013 barrels was reached. This great volume of oil is coming through a 7/8-inch opening, the gas pressure stands constantly at 275 pounds, and the well is performing in a most splendid manner. At the time this great well was brought in, some criticism was made against Union officials for the manner in which the well was handled, but it seems that the critics will now have to admit that the men in whose care this great producer was, knew their business.

There are upwards of fifty oil companies operating in the Fullerton and adjacent fields. At no time in the history of the petroleum industry of this section has there been as much wild cat and new work under way as at the present time.

In many localities where wells were drilled five or ten years ago and abandoned, the operators are going back with new and modern machinery for sinking deep wells, with every indication that a great number of them will prove paying propositions.

Very little land is now in the Fullerton and adjacent fields that is not either taken up or held by lease or options for development work, so that as rapidly as new oil discoveries are made great development programs are quickly arranged and started.

A very noticeable fact is that many of the oldest and most conservative oil companies in the field are leading the wild cat work, and fortunately for themselves and the oil industry, they are meeting with success.

The following reports from local fields will prove of interest:

The rig marking the Union's Bastanchury No. 6, one of the deepest test wells drilled in the Fullerton field, is to be torn down and moved to the Chapman home place at Placentia. The deep well that was drilled to almost a mile will probably close development work on the Bastanchury property, where the Union Oil Company has tried for ten years to develop something on a par with the Standard's famous Murphy property just across the line.

In Hard Shell

After drilling for more than 2000 feet in a high grade oil sand and giving evidence of being a good well, the Union's Stearns No. 55 struck hard shell at 2690 feet. The shell will be drilled through in the hope of coming into another and deeper sand.

The Thomas Strain well at Placentia has given enough encouragement on a two weeks' pumping test to warrant lowering the tubing and making further pumping tests. The well is making some oil, the production being almost free from water. The next test will be made at 4200 feet, where a cement plug has been placed. The condition of the well is now better than it has been since drilling started some seven years ago.

The Brea Canyon No. 31 is so full of gas and oil that it is difficult to keep the well from shooting over the top while the drilling is going on. At 2365 a fine grade of oil sand is showing and the well is pretty lively. At No. 28 the sidetracking of a string of 8-inch is about completed and the well will be making a new hole in a few days. Number 9, an old producer, is redrilling and shows some 1400 feet of hole. Number 32 is a new well and marked with a grade.

Drilling over 100 feet a week is the record the Fullerton Oil Company is making on its No. 13. At 3038 feet the well is showing a mixture of shale and sand. The drilling is continuing with oil in the hole and the results are very gratifying as to speed of hole made and ease with which the pipe is carried.

Columbia's Well Discouraging

The Columbia Oil Company's deep test well at Olinda has reached a depth of 4350 feet without showing any oil. At 4250 feet, sand was struck. This sand, however, did not carry any oil and disappeared at 4300 feet. The present depth shows only shale, and the shale does not even show oil colors.

The West Coast Oil Company has two wells drilling in the old field at Olinda. Number 61 is making a hole in the shale and boulders at 1540, and No. 69 is drilling in the oil sand at 3200 and is about to be completed. The well looks good for at least 2550 barrels. Numbers 67 and 73 are new wells where rig building is almost completed.

At 2030 the Amalgamated Oil Company's Yorba No. 1 is showing some oil and quite a good deal of gas in the brown shale formation. This is the first showing the well has made and leads the management to believe that about 300 feet more of hole will insure something good.

After a continued pumping test of two weeks, the Fullerton Oil Company's well on the Travis refuses to make any more of a showing. Occasionally the well will pump a little oil, but soon after the oil starts it fills up with sand and mud. Preparations are about completed for the running in of the tools and drilling the hole deeper. The failure of this well to make a better showing is quite a disappointment, as the showing for more than 300 feet pointed to a gusher.

MOVEMENT IS ON CIVIC CENTER ANAHEIM

Library Site Is Proposed As Location For Centralizing City Interests

ANAHEIM, July 14.—A movement has been definitely under way to materialize the long-desired civic center on what is known as the library site, between Los Angeles and Lemon streets and between Chestnut street and Broadway.

It was pointed out that the big buildings and improvement movement which new totals more than half a million for the year to date will make possible the acquisition of such site and suitable buildings without additional cost to the taxpayers. In other words, the increased property values will be sufficient source of revenue to the city to take care of the cost of the much needed civic improvement without increasing the tax levy.

Anaheim has reached the point where she cannot afford to ignore the crying need of a city park and adequate city hall buildings," says a prominent citizen.

"Individual citizens, business men and organizations are going ahead with remarkable demonstration of faith in the future of the city by putting under way the greatest improvement campaign of any city in the county. It is now up to the public in general to get behind this public improvement."

ELKS ARRANGE BIG COUNTY PARK TIME

charge will still a halt on the night high jinks until everyone is ready to quit.

The pavilion, boats and burros have been reserved for the Elks and they will be entirely at the disposal of the job-seekers. Kiddies will be there by the hundreds. Also women. It is the annual courtesy to the wives, sweethearts and children of members of the organization and it will be seen that the guests of honor have the times of their "sweet young" and "sweet old" lives.

A regular jazz orchestra will be in attendance to induce all who can "sing their feet" to lose themselves and drown their sorrows, if they have any, in the seductive waltz. No one who can be there, and is entitled to the honor of an invitation, is going to stay away. The Elks have a reputation as capital entertainers and the scale upon which the event of tomorrow afternoon and evening is planned indicates that there is going to be a riot of fun.

One of the big features is going to be a steak barbecue at 7 o'clock. "Husky" Young and Clare Johnson are in charge of the feed, and the names of these men are sufficient to tip off what is in store for those who are lucky enough to "put their feet under the tables" at the park. And the good things will be there in abundance for the committee is by no means skimping. They are pretty good "performers" at the table themselves and they have rather a low feeling for everyone else and size capacities according to their own.

Dr. M. A. Patton is chairman of the entertainment committee, and included in the program will be some high class professional talent.

CAN'T SPRINKLE STREETS AT BREA

BREA, July 14.—Brea, like many other places nowadays, is in danger of a water shortage and certain rules for conservation of the supply have been issued by the Brea Townsite company. The company has just issued the following notice to the citizens of Brea:

"In view of the shortage of water, which is occasioned largely, we believe, to the fact the service is not metered and the consequent lack of appreciation by the majority of consumers of the volume they use, rules for the use thereof will have to be made and enforced."

"These rules are as follows: "No water is to be used for irrigation of lawns or gardens, except during the hours of 6 to 8 o'clock p. m. "No water is to be used for sprinkling the streets."

"Non-compliance with the above rules or the wasteful use of water in any manner, will subject the user thereof to having their service discontinued immediately."

ORANGE PERSONALS AND NEWS NOTES

ORANGE, July 14.—Miss Viola Robinson and Mrs. A. H. Tyrell were hostesses at a delightful porch party at the home of Miss Robinson at 284 North Grand street. Those honored were Mrs. Geiger and her daughters, the Misses Doris and Eva, who are visiting Miss Alma Geiger. About twenty guests enjoyed this pleasant event with music and conversation. Delicious ices and cakes were served by the hostesses.

George Leichtfuss is in Orange again after twenty-two months' service overseas. He was with the Motor Transportation Corps. Leichtfuss was one of the first Orange boys to see active service.

William Batterman has left for Chicago, where he will attend a teachers' convention and meet many of his former college classmates. Batterman expects to be gone six weeks.

Vernon Rozell of the Fifteenth Balloon Company, is at home again after a year's service overseas. He was discharged at the Presidio a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Damewood and W. A. Knuth and family have gone to Yosemite. They will spend the rest of the month there.

SAW THE HANDWRITING, IS REAPING BENEFIT

ANAHEIM, July 14.—The Anaheim brewery is reaping a big harvest with prohibition. Probably more business is being done at the local brewery with its White Ribbon non-alcoholic brand than ever was done with the old-time Blue Ribbon brand.

President Alexander is now cashing in on the wisdom of turning to the White Ribbon brand months ago, as the general prohibition order has found the Anaheim product well and favorably known throughout the southland. A large number of ice boxes are being turned out at the brewery for individual dealers in White Ribbon.

GLAD SHE TOOK HER FRIEND'S ADVICE

"I hate to think of the dreadful suffering I had to undergo before I found relief by taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Selma C. Passmore, of 1408 Constance street, Los Angeles, while in the Owl Drug Store recently. Mrs. Passmore is well known in Los Angeles, having taken a very active part in the various Red Cross drives that were held in the city.

"Up until about a year ago I had always enjoyed excellent health," continued Mrs. Passmore, "but at that time I ate something that seemed to poison me and from then on I had trouble with my stomach, because it just seemed like everything I would eat would sour and form gas and I would suffer agony with the pain. Sometimes this gas would just seem to fill me up and press so against my heart that I would feel like I was going to suffocate and nothing that I would do seemed to give me a particle of relief. Finally, it got so bad that I had to give up trying to eat any regular meals and went on a diet of milk and then milk and eggs, but even that only gave me passing relief, and after while I got to where I couldn't go out to any little social affairs, because I would be afraid one of those awful spells with gas would come on me before I could get home. I couldn't sleep well, either, and many a time would just roll and toss about nearly all night long and hardly get a wink of sleep and I fell off twenty pounds in weight and lost so much strength that I was terribly weak, and I got so awfully blue and despondent over my condition that I was just about ready to give up entirely."

"I was in just this condition when a friend of mine suggested that I try Tanlac, so I got a bottle at the Owl Drug store and it certainly proved a grand surprise to me, because I could notice that I was getting relief almost from the very first dose and the results I had from that first bottle were simply wonderful. I can eat anything I want now and never suffer a bit with sour stomach or gas and never have a sign of pain of any kind any more. Why, I can even eat cantaloupe for my breakfast and enjoy it and before I started on Tanlac I hadn't been able to eat fruit for over a year. I sleep so soundly at night now that I really hate to get up in the morning and I am getting back my weight and strength right along and am feeling fine in every way. I am recommending Tanlac to every one of my friends and am glad to do so, because I am satisfied, from my own experience with it that it will help others that may be suffering like I was."

Tanlac is sold in Santa Ana by Rowley Drug Co., in Fullerton by G. W. Finch, in La Habra by R. H. Hilbert, in Huntington Beach by Rigdon's Pharmacy, in Orange by Dittmer's Mission Pharmacy, in Placentia by A. J. Robinson, in Tustin by Tustin Drug Co., in Brea by Brea Pharmacy, in Buena Park by Regal Drug Co., in Garden Grove by O. H. Anderson, and in Laguna Beach by Laguna Beach Pharmacy.—Adv.

ATTENTION, B. P. O. E.
Remember the picnic and barbecue to be held at Orange County Park July 15th, 12 o'clock noon, until midnight. If you have not returned your card, call the secretary so that the committee may know how many to prepare for. All visiting Elks are urged to attend.

CHURCHES BEING RESTORED IN FRANCE

Many Edifices Are Entirely Wiped Out By Germans and Shell Fire

PARIS, July 14.—Over 3000 churches were either completely destroyed or seriously damaged by the German invasion of Northern France. The state in which these martyred churches now are found varies from those that have been absolutely wiped out to others which suffered only the damages of occasional stray shells.

The work of restoring the churches has begun. The first annual general assembly of the Society to Restore the Churches of the Devastated Regions was held in Paris recently. At that time Vicar Odellin of Paris reported that over $265,000 had been expended in beginning the work of restoration. He stated that sixty-three churches have been adopted by individuals who will personally bear all the expenses involved in the work of rebuilding. Help has come, said the vicar, from the United States, from Brazil, from India, in fact every nation of the Allied world is helping France counteract the work of the destroyer.

Some of the churches will never be restored. Some are gone, completely shot to bits, leaving barely a trace of their former location. Others, famous cathedrals such as those of Rheims and Amiens, may be left as they now stand as a warning to posterity and as an indelible record of the savagery of the past five years.

In importance, architectural beauty and size of the ruined cathedrals and churches vary from the stately ruin of Rheims, which will always symbolize the barbarity of the Huns, to the little country churches.

Beside the mound which figured day after day in the war communiques as "Hill 304," in the midst of what used to form the quiet village of Esnes, just to the right of Verdun, stood the little church. It was almost demolished by the terrible effect of the artillery during the Verdun struggle of 1916, but until late in the summer of 1917 the altar of the church still stood unscathed. The roof and walls of the church had long since been shot away, but the weather-beaten, unprotected altar continued to give solitary evidence of the former presence of a house of worship. Today nothing remains. But the little church of Esnes is only one of a great number which will never be restored.
